

Charges of Racial Discrimination Denied in D.C.

City Council 'Snowing' People, Priest Says

By FRANK LaPIERRE
Post Staff Writer

Charges of racial discrimination in hiring by Daly City and demands that a federally funded employment program be temporarily scrapped were both denied by the city council on Monday.

The Rev. Thomas McElligott, a Catholic priest with Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church in Daly City, accused the council and City Atty. Albert Polonsky of "snowing" the people.

"You may have snowed some others, but you haven't snowed me," McElligott said.

The remark came after Mayor Bernard J. Lycett and Polonsky attempted to explain the city's civil service rules adopted by voters some years ago.

Any change in the employment rules set down for permanent employment would have to go back to the voters, Lycett said.

The mayor also informed McElligott the city would lose funding of 21 job slots presently allocated Daly City under the Emergency Employment Program — a program aimed at hiring unemployed persons for permanent jobs with the city.

"I don't know what you're saying," Father McElligott said.

"You don't want to understand," Lycett countered.

Father McElligott led a procession of citizens, representing the community's minority population, in an effort to accelerate hiring of minority applicants for jobs offered under the program.

The Ad Hoc Committee for Minority Hiring wants standards now used to hire city employees lowered for certain jobs in order to permit persons from minority races an equal opportunity to qualify, it was explained in earlier discussions.

During a public study session last week Mrs. Andrew Ynostroza Jr. raised several questions relative to the hiring practices of Daly City. She asked, on behalf of the Ad Hoc Committee, to appear on Monday night's agenda for answers to her group's demands.

One of the questions Mrs. Ynostroza asked was whether the city was willing to adopt alternatives to the Civil Service code as outlined in a guide issued by the federal government in relation to hiring under the EEP.

Lycett responded by saying "The only way I can answer that right now is that we are not intending any alternatives (to the code) at this time."

He said the Department of Labor had already approved the city's EEP project.

The mayor at the outset of the lengthy meeting attended by an overflow crowd, said he was undertaking an affirmative action program that immediately sets up a committee composed of city staff and the Personnel Board to make a study of the matter and report back to the council within 70 days.

He asked for specific written proposals be submitted to the Personnel Board during the hearings.

But the question of scrapping the EEP, or making special concessions to minority races to insure they get job preference over other unemployed persons, was rejected by the entire council.

Efforts to have the city immediately contact the Department of Labor regarding the EEP funds while hiring practices are talked out likewise failed.

"I know we're missing the boat somewhere," Rev. McElligott said.

The federal government has allocated Daly City 21 slots under the program.

Two positions have been filled—one employee is an American Indian while the other is a Chicano, assistant to the city manager Don Fleming said.

Both have been assigned to the new Guadalupe Health Clinic on Mission Street.

Mel Tafuya, another member of the Ad Hoc Committee, pointed out the fact that other cities—such as Pacifica—have bent their rules on hiring.

Tafuya said he could not see why a person needed a high school education to fill a cus-

U.S. Judge Sets Fwy. 380 Restraining Order Date

U.S. District Court Judge Robert F. Peckham Monday afternoon took under submission whether to issue a temporary restraining order to halt work on the extension of Interstate 380 from San Bruno to Pacifica.

The judge also set November 18 as the date for a hearing on whether a permanent injunction should be issued. This could be academic if the restraining order is not issued. The matter was heard in the San Jose District Court.

At that time Judge Peckham said, "I'm hesitant to issue (the temporary restraining order). But, I very well may issue it." He then said he would make his decision yesterday. But at midday he had not made a decision.

Burlingame Atty. Joseph Bergeron, representing a group of San Bruno residents and the Sierra Club, made the pitch for the temporary restraining order.

Also present at yesterday's session was Mrs. Elinor Larsen of San Bruno, chairman of the 380 Study Team. She called a press conference for 10 a.m. today at the access road to Engvall School (where the work is scheduled to begin) to outline the freeway opponents' next move.

Bergeron told the judge his clients' main concern is that this initial test boring work by the Division of Highways would be the beginning to taking of some three million cubic yards of wildlife refuge soil, and trucking it to a site for the construction of an interchange with Highway 101.

Division of Highways Atty. Norval Fairman said the highway department has not formally moved for design approval.

He said the test borings will be for construction of an overpass requested by San Bruno officials to connect two elementary schools. This construction is scheduled for next March.

Fairman said test borings were first scheduled to begin September 20 and have been repeatedly postponed. He said there is now concern that the rainy season will hit before the job can be completed, if it is postponed any more.

"In balancing the equities, this work (test boring) is limited," said Fairman.

Fairman also said the four-power agreement entered into several years ago between the state, federal and county agencies and San Francisco to preserve the watershed in open space also left open lands for the interstate connection.

Bergeron contended, however, that the division of highways is violating a number of state and federal laws, and questioned the four-powers agreement arrangement.

He said he doesn't want any construction activity permitted until statutory requirements have been met.

POINTING OUT THE proposed Route 380 extension are Elinor Larson of the Sierra Club and Attorney

Joseph Bergeron with Don Phelps and Mark Forcum, student organizers of the Anti-380 drive.

Lopez Conviction in Murder At Pacifica Is Overturned

The murder conviction of Carlos Lopez, an escapee from a county jail involved in the death of a retired Pacifica sea captain has been overturned by the California Supreme Court.

Written by Associate Justice Raymond L. Sullivan, the 6 to 1 decision was billed by court authorities as a further restriction on the so-called "murder-felony rule."

The premise of that rule has been that any homicide which occurs during the commission of a felony endangering human life is murder. Any person involved in that felony can be found guilty of murder.

Lopez was sent to the San Francisco County Jail in San Bruno in April, 1969, to serve a year for burglary.

Two months later he and three other prisoners escaped by climbing out a window with a rope made from blankets.

They separated into two groups and Lopez and Clarence Galindo hid in the hills west of the jail.

Three days after the escape Galindo broke into the home of Christian Pedersen, a 92-year-old retired sea captain, the court decision said.

Lopez entered the home moments later to find Galindo attacking Mrs. Pedersen with a pair of metal shears. The elderly man lay dying on a bed, the court said.

Coast Updates Codes, Except for Plumbing

Pacifica council members Monday swiftly updated those city codes pertaining to building maintenance, heating and new construction but ran into a snag on the plumbing.

At issue is whether or not to continue use of plastic plumbing. Plastic plumbing is authorized for water service piping. The decision was put off until January.

Several persons spoke in favor of plastic piping. The main opposition came from Tom Hunter, business manager of Plumbers, Steamfitters, Refrigeration Fitters Local 467.

He showed a film of the plastic versus the conventional iron in a burning situation, then emphasized his point by lighting a match to a piece of plastic plumbing he had brought to the meeting.

the San Mateo County Homebuilders, urged adoption of the updated code, which includes use of plastic plumbing.

He said plastic pipe has had wide use for the past six years with no complaints on its functioning.

Tom Murphy, project director of Building Code Action, a special program sponsored by the Construction Industry Advancement Fund, also urged adoption.

"It's unfortunate, but a fact of life. This is a bitter industry fight. Plastics is only one of many instances where progress is being held up because others (presumably the cast iron pipe-fitters) have control," said Murphy.

A Challenge Homes Development spokesman said his firm has used plastic pipe in 650 Pacifica homes' waste and vent systems, also in 81 homes in

Town Hall Meeting in Daly City

Police and community relations will be the focal point of a Town Hall meeting at Jefferson High School Saturday between 9:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

The meeting, jointly sponsored by the Daly City Police Department and the Citizen's Community Relations Planning Committee, will feature an address by Ed Beck, director of the San Mateo County Economic Opportunity Commission.

This gathering and a similar one planned for the spring are a part of a federal grant obtained by the police department and the direct outgrowth of neighborhood coffee klatches involving police and community residents.

One aspect of these activities has been the attempt by the community and the police to overt the kinds of breakdown in communication and understanding.

One purpose of the meeting will be to encourage participation in the neighborhood coffee klatches and to recruit discussion leaders.

The public is invited to attend. Councilman Anthony Giammona will welcome the participants on behalf of the city. Lt. Phil LaBruno will speak on behalf of the Daly City Police Department.

After Beck's keynote address a panel of local residents will

Merchants On Coast 'Concerned'

By BOB PETERSON

The Linda Mar Merchants Association of Pacifica has expressed concern to city officials about the effects a proposed freeway would have for them.

In a letter submitted to council members Monday night the association outlined "some facts and figures" pertinent to a possible removal of the shopping center for the freeway.

Council members referred the letter to the city's Highways and Transportation Committee, and decided they had better meet with the division of highways on the matter as soon as possible. A date is being arranged.

According to the association, recent proposals by the division of highways indicate a freeway route would go directly through the shopping center.

The letter said the impact of removing the shopping center would be very detrimental to the city, both economically and by denying residents of services offered nowhere else.

Current tenants in the center employ in excess of 360 persons with a total payroll in excess of $1.6 million annually. The letter said the majority of these employees are Pacifica residents.

The shopping center also reportedly creates in excess of $7.5 million of sales tax in a year, from which the city receives a direct one percent sales tax. For the calendar year 1970, this amounted to more than $55,000.

It also was pointed out that the city gets more than $2,950 (Please See Page 3, Col. 3)

San Bruno Council

Delay in Boring Asked

San Bruno city councilmen voted 3-2 Monday night to ask the State Division of Highways to delay again test borings in the Crestmoor Canyon until after the 8 p.m., November 17, meeting with the division.

Mayor Maurice Hamilton and Councilman Neil Christal voted "no."

The motion followed a bitter discussion between the councilmen and members of a new ad hoc group fighting the freeway extension — a group which includes a number of those who led the recent recall movement and who have been supporters of the council majority.

Speaking for them were Larry Mobley and Orville Wyckoff.

They expressed concern that an apparent request for a new "hearing" on the freeway had been answered by granting of a "meeting" with the Division of Highways instead. They charged that a formal hearing could conceivably result in a determination of whether to build the highway altogether. The coming meeting, however, could, at most, merely result in design changes.

Mayor Maury Hamilton made clear, however, that he had no intention of cancelling the freeway extension.

"There comes a time when you have to make a decision, good, bad or indifferent," he declared. "Design changes can be very important... in considering what kind of changes can be made to eliminate pollution and noise."

Tony Governale, who with Christal, is on the council's freeway committee, bore the brunt of the argument.

The sole purpose of the meeting, he said, was to explore the environmental statement. Everything said at the meeting would be entered into this statement, he promised. If the meeting shows the environmental effects of the freeway to be too undesirable, then he personally would then make a motion to ask for a full blown hearing, Governale said.

Councilman George Corey said he objected to the process of holding both a meeting and a hearing.

School trustees also meeting Monday night, re-directed their previous request for a hearing to the State Highway Commission, stating that more must be known about the freeway's effects before it should be built. Joining them in their request was the P-TA Co-ordinating Council.

Redevelopment Planned in D.C.

The most ambitious redevelopment project ever undertaken in San Mateo County will soon get under way in Daly City, it was announced last week.

The agency will be involved over the next few years with rebuilding much of the city east of the Junipero Serra Freeway. Before it ends thousands of people will be affected and millions of dollars spent in rehabilitating "old Daly City," an official said.

While specifics concerning formation of the new agency have not been made public it was understood the initial phase will be concentrated in the Bay Area Rapid Transit station on Knowles Avenue.

In talks with city officials it was indicated a major builder has expressed keen interest in planning and redevelopment of the area surrounding the BART station.

City Mgr. David Rowe said the first step to be taken in setting up the agency is the appointment of a board of directors.

Rowe said the council was (Please See Page 3, Col. 2)

For Whose Cars?

No Decision on Parking Lot

A recommendation that the San Bruno City Council oust Tanforan Dodge from use of two lots owned by El Camino Theater for storage and sale of cars, was held over by the council Monday.

The protest by representatives of the leading merchants of the 400 block of San Bruno Avenue seemed to be bitter Monday night as the assertion at a previous meeting by the owners of the theater and the car dealer, of their right to lease their property as they wish.

The ouster recommendation came from the San Bruno Planning Commission.

Councilman George Corey said that filing a suit would be premature. He cited a survey which showed some 140 cars now parked in the area by theater patrons. The lots, he pointed out, have spaces for only 40 cars.

"Even if we won," he pointed out, "all you would do would be to move cars parked farthest away from the theater onto the lot... and you would remain with the same problem."

Mayor Maury Hamilton urged

exploration of the possibility of imposing parking limits at night.

Fred Dias of Walter's Cocktail Lounge, saying he represented most of the businesses in the area, declared that he had a 149-name petition asking that the theater free its parking lots for its patrons.

"We've gone patiently from meeting to meeting," Dias declared. "Without solving the problem... A delay would just create another hassle." They finally agreed to another meeting, Thursday, 8 p.m., at Roma's Delicatessen.

Colma Creek Flood Control OK'd

San Bruno city councilmen Monday night told acting City Manager Leo Van Dusen to urge the Colma Creek Flood Control District to go ahead and immediately start work on building a locally financed flood control project.

Van Dusen is a member of the advisory board of the flood district.

It would mean, he reported, a $3 million expenditure, of which it is hoped, the state and federal governments will pay some $3 million. Under the district's set-up, it appears that the local money would come from property-owners within the district, which includes all of South San Francisco, and parts of Rollingwood, Monte Verde and Pacific Heights in San Bruno, as well as a small part of Westview in Pacifica, and Colma and San Bruno Mountain.

Those San Brunans who would be taxed are now exempt from a special flood control tax for the San Bruno Flood Control District.

Van Dusen reported that under the present situation, under which the Colma Creek Flood Control District is simply waiting for the Army Corps of Engineers to go through the normal procedure under which they will build and finance the flood control project by themselves, it will be 1980 before it is built. Should the local taxpayers do it, it will get built by 1975.

City Attorney Joe Galligan stressed the need for fast action. He reminded the Council that the city insurers had canceled the city's flood damage coverage because flood damage had become a normal, annual affair. San Bruno is in a particularly vulnerable position, he pointed out, since although it comprises just a small portion of the Colma Flood Control District, it must share equally with South San Francisco in any damages a court may award, as well as court costs.

Although leaving it to the Army Engineers would save $3 million, "it might cost that much in claims," Councilman Tony Gervase commented.

Authorized Van Dusen to get together with the state on its purchases of thousands of vehicles and buy five pickup trucks for various departments, and two CHP-type police cars.

Granted city employees, at request of City Employees Association and Administrative Employees Association, days off on Friday after Thanksgiving, and a half day before New Year's and Christmas. Neil Christal voted "no" because he felt the city would be granting one half-day additional over what it negotiated with the employees.

Agreed to negotiate with Tanforan Shopping Center over sewer and business permit charges for the newly opened Garden Restaurant, which has one common area but nine firms preparing food. The city was charging $215 a month on the basis of ten different garbage disposals; normal restaurants were charged only on the basis of one disposal, no matter how many they may really have. Councilman Maury Hamilton contended that it was indeed more than one restaurant. —Granted American Musical Theater permission to install rigging in the eaves right after the November 13 basketball game at the War Memorial Recreation Center, to remove boxing lights temporarily, and for the city to buy canvas cloth to cover the stage floor. Price on the latter item was limited to $100. —Increased turn-on service fee for delinquent water customers from $1 to $5, since the men doing the work were paid $4 an hour.

—Were notified that the opening ceremony for the 380-280 interchange will take place November 23 at 11 a.m.

—Again held over till the following meeting a proposal by Police Capt. Bill Conn to apply for federal funding to create a Traffic Safety Program. Conn described both the one year and the two-year program, which ranges up to $135,070, entirely funded by Washington.

A Short Meeting for Millbrae

One of their shortest meetings in recent history was held by the Millbrae Planning Commission Monday.

They adjourned within less than an hour of the meeting's starting time, doing so happily because their sessions have been running to midnight or later.

The meeting was shortened by requests of applicants to withhold action on five of the ten items on the meeting agenda.

Commissioners refused permission for Mrs. Beatrice Rossi to build a garage in front of her home at 100 Alta Loma Avenue, because a variance would have been required. Mrs. Rossi said she wanted the variance because her former garage had been converted into living quarters 18 years ago. Now she wants to get her car off the street, she said.

The commission agreed on "no action" on Joseph Kertesz' request for a change in his sign on Civic Center Lane, because Kertesz had taken no action in a long time.

They approved a home expansion for William A. Borba at 313 Barclay Avenue, although the building is on an older lot which now would be considered too narrow.

Commission members also didn't need to be granted approval for Jim Utterback to operate a Christmas tree lot at 150 El Camino Real.

They agreed to refund filing fees for a use permit application which was filed when it

Deputy Says $457,241 Allocated To Get Him Driver Tried To Salada District

To Get Him

An off-duty deputy sheriff reported on November 4 that a car kept trying to run him off the shore Freeway between Burlingame and South San Francisco.

He said the driver drew a gun on him and did not leave until he drew his own pistol.

James Van Pelt, 33, of Redwood City, said he was northbound at about 65 miles per hour when the other car pulled suddenly in front of him. He reported when he blinked his lights, the other driver slammed on his brakes, almost causing an accident, and then took off at high speed.

Farther on, however, the other car slowed down, forcing Van Pelt to cross two lanes of traffic to avoid an accident. He said the car tried to force him off the road.

Van Pelt speeded up to get away from the other car, but it speeded up and pulled alongside him. Once again the other car got in front of him and the driver slammed on the brakes. When he attempted to get off the freeway at Airport Boulevard in South San Francisco, the driver again slammed on his brakes. This time the driver leaned across the seat and pointed a revolver at him, Van Pelt reported. When he pulled his own gun, he said, the other car sped off.

Van Pelt drove immediately to the South San Francisco police department, and although a radio broadcast was put out alerting the California Highway Patrol, the driver escaped.

Van Pelt described the man as black, about 40 to 45 years old and as wearing glasses. He was driving a white and green Dodge, Van Pelt reported.

Deputy Says $457,241 Allocated To Get Him Driver Tried To Salada District

The state has allocated $457,241 to the San Mateo County Department of Education and the Laguna Salada School District for construction of a school for severely mentally retarded children.

Report of the allocation was made to the County Board of Education last night by William Herbig, assistant superintendent in charge of special education.

The school will be constructed on the campus of the Pacific Heights School, 3791 Pacific Heights Boulevard, in San Bruno. It is expected that completion of plans and subsequent construction will take a total of 18 months.

There will be six classrooms, a multi-purpose room, a speech room, plus administrative and subsidiary facilities. A total of 60 pupils, ranging in age from five to 21 years, from throughout the county will be accommodated at the school.

According to the agreement with the state, the Laguna Salada District will eventually repay 10 per cent of the school cost, and the county 40 per cent, with the state bearing the remainder of the cost. The County Department of Education will staff and operate the school.

todial job. And he suggested language was another barrier to the hiring of "some otherwise highly qualified people."

Councilman Frank P. Acelli ventured the upcoming study might recommend lowering of job standards for certain posts as Tafuya suggested.

But visibly angered Councilman Louis J. Papan said that he did not believe that Daly City could not find 19 persons from the minority community that could pass the tests administered for jobs being offered.

"You mean to tell me there aren't 19 persons from our minority community that can pass these test papers," Papan asked. "I don't believe that at all."

Mrs. Catherine Smallwood asked a freeze be put on the federal funds or sent back to the Department of Labor and reapplication made.

Meanwhile, the two jobs already filled might be paid for from city funds, she said.

Mayor Lyett vigorously opposed the freeze and reapplication suggestion, explaining the EEP was a project to aid unemployed persons now.

"These are people who need jobs now and I do not intend to either freeze or send back those funds," Lyett said.

Survey to Determine Class Need

Cathy Smallwood of the County Economic Opportunity Commission is conducting a survey to determine if there is a demand for college credit classes to be located in Pacifica.

Classes in English, sociology and Spanish might be offered and at least 20 persons request, the sociology classes could be taught in Spanish, she said.

Survey forms are available at the Sanchez Library, Linda Mar Shopping Center and the Pacifica Library, Hilton Way. Classes may be taught during day or evening, and prospective students may indicate the location most convenient for them.

Students may leave completed applications at the libraries, mail them to Cathy Smallwood, EOC, county government center, Redwood City, or leave them with Clark Natwick, 1108 Valencia Way, Pacifica.

2 Held In Bruno Gunplay

San Bruno police arrested a South Carolina man and his female companion Monday in connection with an alleged shooting at Sambo's restaurant in the Rollingwood section.

Officer Terrence W. Johnson said the couple were apprehended leaving the scene of the 3 a.m. incident after witnesses identified them as the persons responsible for taking a shot at Neil Edward Wotherpoon, 41, of 305 Westview Drive, South San Francisco.

According to reports, John P. Elrod, 40, and Patricia Ann Daniel, 29, of 2781 Glenham Street, Redwood City, were involved in a dispute with Wotherpoon at the all-night restaurant.

Elrod, according to witnesses, became boisterous inside the restaurant and when Wotherpoon was crossing the parking lot to get his car, the suspect confronted him.

A .22-caliber pistol was fired and Wotherpoon fell to the ground.

The victim received only a bad bruise and police were unable to determine if it was caused by a bullet grazing him or resulted from the fall.

Parochial Hi Schools Won't Close in Strike

A San Francisco archdiocesan spokesman said that seven high schools would be kept open if there was a walkout by lay-teachers this week.

The schools are Cathedral, Riordan and Sacred Heart in San Francisco, Marin Catholic in Kentfield, Serra in San Mateo and Mitty and St. Lawrence in San Jose. They have a total enrollment of 1,000.

Elementary school teachers are hired independently by each parish and are not affected. There are 37,500 pupils in those schools in the archdiocese.

The Secondary Teachers Association said that a strike vote would be taken.

Gerald J. Killian, the president, said negotiations had broken down toward replacing a contract that expires this Saturday.

His association represents 165 lay teachers in the system, which is between two-thirds and three-fourths of the staff.

Killian said his group had been offered no raise this year but four per cent the second and four more the third year.

The Rev. Bernard Cummins, superintendent, disagreed saying the schools had offered a four per cent cost of living raise plus a four per cent boost in the base pay for the second and third years.

"When we're talking about a four per cent increase in base pay, we're talking about a seven or eight per cent average pay increase," he added.

Ex-Football Star Guilty Of Robbery

Willie R. Cook, former all-star football player at Daly City's Jefferson High School, pleaded guilty to a $60 armed robbery Monday in Superior Court at Redwood City.

Cook, 20, was charged with the holdup of the Evergreen Market in Daly City last April 30.

Judge W. Howard Hartley scheduled sentencing for December 6 at 9 a.m.

Cook, who established rushing and touchdown records during his senior year at Jefferson, is now a student at the University of California, Berkeley.

Redwood City and 25 in Belmont.

He said there has been no problem from service, chemicals, corrosion, expansion or contraction. An Oakland subcontractor also told the council members he had installed plastic waste and vent piping in upwards of 1,000 Pacifica homes without adverse reactions.

The contention of all those favoring the plastic was that it is excellent material for its intended purpose.

Hunter referred to the proponents as "the experts." He said, "All I am is a plumber." His thrust was that the individual homeowner is being used as a guinea pig in the testing of the plastic piping.

As the short film was being shown, Hunter narrated at various points and attempted to show that the plastic piping not only could burn, but that it was a conductor for fire.

Councilman Stan Farber said he wanted several questions answered, including "a commitment from the fire rating bureau."

City Attorney John Sherman volunteered to write to several agencies "and ask them point blank" about the desirability of the plastic piping.

respond to his remarks. Those persons attending the general meeting will then break into small groups for further discussion. Police officers will act as consultants and resource persons in each of the groups.

Panel participants will include Carolyn Person, Armando Acetuno, Jim Edwards, Gaston Booker, police captain David Hansen and Don Fleming, assistant city manager.

The moderator will be Al Toles of the North County Mental Health Center.

D.C. Redevelopment

scheduled to designate itself as the proposed agency's directors at a November 15 meeting.

Although the agency will function in accordance with existing state and federal law, monies for the redevelopment projects will come directly from Daly City.

The city will start the project with a lump sum which will then generate its own funding as various areas are redeveloped, Rowe said.

There will be no increase on the tax rate as a result of this, he said.

In the long run the redeveloped areas will form a wider tax base for the city, according to Rowe.

All homes in the designated redevelopment areas will not be razed, Rowe said. Rather, many will be "rehabilitated" to bring them up to standard.

Plans will be put into effect that will give businessmen first choice to locate back into rebuilt areas (this also holds true for residents) or to relocate elsewhere.

Funds will be provided for relocation, it was explained.

"This is not a one-shot deal," Rowe emphasized.

One of the first things the agency will do is to study the entire project area. Those areas that meet criteria set forth in the city's three-year-old general plan will be redeveloped.

In the area of the BART station (phase one) high density (high rise) commercial office and apartments are expected to be built.

Funding of the project will not present any problems Rowe pointed out.

After initial funding from the city's general fund, subsequent monies can be raised through selling properties, banks, and developers themselves.

Once the agency is formed assessed values are frozen for taxing purposes.

"All taxes on the increased assessed valuation resulting from the redevelopment are used to meet any deficits," Rowe said.

"The agency, of course, has a potential deficit," the city manager explained.

'These Are for Real' Sermon Topic Chosen

"These are for Real" is the sermon topic by Pastor A. David Donnelly of the Westside Baptist Church, 390 Inverness Drive, Pacifica, for Sunday at the 10:55 a.m. Morning Worship Hour.

Music for this service will be by the Ladies Trio, consisting of Misses Diane Swedberg, Marion Hillerstrom and Bevel Lind.

Mrs. Tamara Schmidt will be at the console of the Baldwin organ. During the adult worship service, children's church is conducted for boys and girls four through eight years of age. Nursery is maintained for babies and toddlers during all of the Sunday services.

At 5 p.m. each Sunday, the Sanctuary Choir holds its practice, with Alton K. Swedberg directing.

At 6 p.m. four youth groups meet: Primary "Eager Beavers"; Junior "Astronauts"; Junior High "Crusaders"; and Senior High CYF.

In the sanctuary, the adults are meeting and studying together the book by Tim LaHaye, "Spirit-Controlled Temperament."

These two items, according to the letter, were in excess of $120,000 this past year. Of this $120,000, more than $21,500, goes directly to the city.

The Laguna Salada School District (already poor) receives 21.94 percent of these taxes, which amount to more than $26,000 a year.

In addition, the Jefferson High School District (of which Pacifica is a part) receives 24.31 percent of these taxes.

As an alternative to the division of highways proposal, the merchants association said it would prefer a four-to-six lane expressway following the current layout of Highway 1.

Reverend Rudolph Becomes St. Martin's First Rector

Institution of The Rev. Timothy S. Rudolph, as the first rector of St. Martin's Episcopal Church will take place Thursday evening at 7:30.

Bishop C. Kilmer Myers will officiate. The bishop will be the celebrant at Holy Communion which follows and will also preach the sermon. Schubert's

Mass in F will be performed by the choir. There will be a reception in the undercroft following the service.

This event climaxes an important event in the life of the church. St. Martin's origin in Daly City dates back 15 years when it began as a mission. Services were first held in the basement of the vicarage. Later the property at 777 Southgate was acquired and is the present site of the church.

In the Episcopal church when a mission becomes a parish it must be self-sustaining and the responsibility for ministry is shifted from the bishop to the rector. St. Martin, patron saint of the church, was born in Hungary in 316. His father was an officer of a Roman legion and the son became a legionnaire.

As a young cavalryman he once took pity on a cold and naked beggar and cut his great cloak in two with his sword and wrapped one half of it around him. He felt army life was incompatible with Christianity and became a monk, then a priest and still later a bishop. He died at the age of 80.

ond-degree murder on the basis of the murder-felony rule. But in overturning the decision the high court ruled in part:

"We cannot conclude that those who commit nonviolent escapes . . . perpetuate an offense which should logically serve as the basis for the imputation of malice aforethought in a murder prosecution."

The prosecution could seek a second trial for Lopez and attempt to convict him for murder by establishing before a jury that Lopez's acts were "malice and aforethought," the court said.

Galindo pleaded guilty to first degree murder and was sentenced to life in prison.

The court upheld Lopez's robbery conviction and he is now serving a minimum five-year sentence for the crime.

Brunan Dies

After Fall

A 48-year-old San Bruno postman died in surgery at Peninsula hospital on Saturday as doctors attempted to save his life despite severe injuries suffered when he fell from a ladder at his home Tuesday.

Joseph Cruz of 475 Mastick Avenue suffered a skull fracture, a fractured shoulder and multiple fractured ribs when he fell from the ladder while working in the rear yard, coroner's investigators reported.

Of cash, credit and cars.

Until that utopian day when some genius overcomes friction we'll keep wearing out mechanical parts. Which means your car will wear out sooner or later. At this point you have a decision to make. Is your car worth repairing, or will you be better off with the safety and reliability of a new car?

Now, that's a question my partner, Bob Toneff, or I can't answer for you . . . but we can help you get the answer for a very few dollars. Drive in and Bob or I will introduce you to Elmer Estrada, our very competent TRUE VALUE! Service Center Manager. He'll have your car checked out from grille to taillights. You'll know then what must be done for safety and for dependability, what should be done and about what it will cost.

And while Elmer's doing his thing you can compare our TRUE VALUE! Dodge line with your present car, and if you want, we'll be glad to advise you on a model best for your use. That can be anything from the penny-squeezing, dollar saving Colt to the unsurpassed luxury of the Monaco, or a Dodge Truck. Test drive one or all of them. We'll tell you what we can give you on your trade-in and then let you make up your own mind. No arm-twisting or hard sell. Honest.

Most of us can't afford to just write a check for a car. We offer financing, of course, and we'll tell you what we can do. We'll also suggest other means; perhaps a loan from your credit union or your bank might provide you with better terms.

If you've read this far you know we think you're an intelligent person. Bob and I think we're reasonably smart too . . . so instead of trying to convince you that we give away new cars we simply claim we do our very best to give you TRUE VALUE! for your car dollars. Make sense?

Come in, have a cup of coffee with us and we'll discuss it.

Sincerely,

Joe Francis

New Security Chief Sought For Airport

A new chief of security is needed at San Francisco International Airport, Airports Mgr. James K. Carr told the city's airports commissioners last week.

He said the increasing demands of the Department of Transportation, and the Federal Aviation Administration, have made it necessary to propose a new "bureau of security" in the airport's administrative chain of command.

Carr asked a delay in approving the plan, however, until he works out details of salary and job requirements.

Later, Carr told reporters the job would probably require the hiring of a man who has been chief of police in a small-to-medium sized city, and that the salary would probably fall within the $20,000 to $30,000 per year range.

He also said that several additions to the airport police staff would be necessary.

One of the major reasons a new security boss is needed, Carr said, is the increasing demand for coordination between airport police, San Mateo County sheriff's deputies, federal air marshals, customs and immigration people, and other law enforcement agencies.

King Plaza Store Planned by QFI

One of northern California's most successful regional shopping centers — Serramonte Center — last week signed a lease with owners of Quality Foods, Inc. for a new 33,000 square-foot GFI market.

The new market will be located at the King Plaza Shopping Center at the corner of King Drive and Callan Boulevard.

The area borders three cities — South San Francisco, Daly City and Pacifica.

A spokesman for Suburban Realty Company, developers of Serramonte, said the new center is a "fulfillment of a master plan that includes the development of a first-class convenience shopping center facility designed to serve the needs of residents in this rapidly growing tri-city area."

Suburban Realty and QFI have had a successful relationship since the food chain established itself as a major tenant in the Serramonte Center.

QFI president John Musso said during signing ceremonies last week that while his company has a large and highly successful market within the Serramonte Center it was decided a further expansion into the King Plaza Center was needed.

QFI, noted for its marketing imagination and innovations, won a top national retailer award from the National Brands Foundation three years ago.

Other tenants in the King Plaza Center will be Doug Mack's Cards and Gifts, Serramonte Liquors, Hunt's Donuts and King Plaza Cleaners.

The center is expected to open in September 1972. Ground-breaking ceremonies will be held Thursday at 11 a.m.

Bad Check Charge for Deserter, 20

San Bruno police have taken custody of 20-year-old Glenn B. Finck, reportedly an army deserter, who is charged with making a down payment on a new car with a bad check.

Finck was apprehended by Douglas County, Nevada, sheriff's deputies Wednesday on check charges.

The authorities in San Bruno said Finck, unemployed, issued a check on the Manteca Wells Fargo Bank branch for $801 to Fairway Chevrolet.

The sum was a down payment on a 1972 model car.

The firm allowed Finck to drive away in the vehicle after being shown documents, which police said proved to be fraudulent, indicating Finck had additional funds coming from the army.

Two S.S.F. Teen-agers Are Hurt

Two teenaged South San Franciscans were critically injured on Friday afternoon when their car swerved into the center divider strip on Interstate Highway 280 in Daly City, struck a light pole and overturned.

Reported in critical condition in the intensive care unit of Mary's Help hospital this morning with internal injuries and a possible skull fracture was the driver of the vehicle, Peter J. Giannini, 17, of 133 Duval Drive. Also in the intensive care unit of the hospital in guarded condition with head injuries was the passenger in the vehicle, Susan D. Hansen, 18, of 266 Maywood Drive, South San Francisco.

A southbound motorcyclist, Kevin G. Kelly, 19, of 478 Oak Avenue, San Bruno, told highway patrolmen he saw the other car driving erratically from side to side of the highway near Alemany Boulevard. Suddenly it veered across all three lanes of traffic directly at him, Kelly said. Kelly suffered minor injuries when he "laid down" his motorcycle to avoid a collision, according to officers.

Oil Jobber Group Files Gas Action

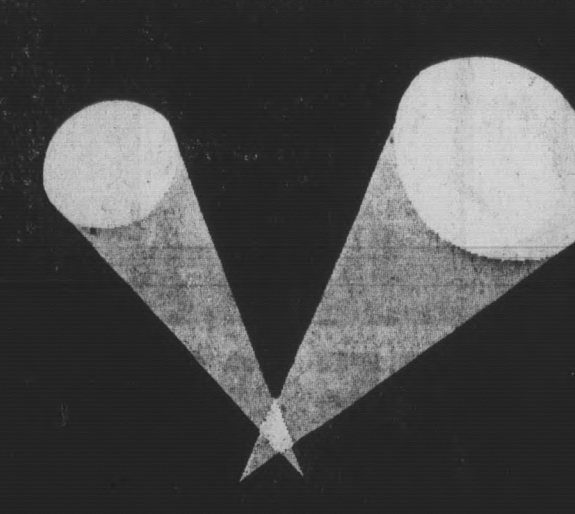

The California Oil Jobbers Association has filed suit in San Mateo County Superior Court seeking an injunction to prevent a Colma service station owner from selling gasoline at less than cost.

It is alleged in the complaint that Roy E. Shimek, owner of eight service stations in San Francisco, Daly City and Colma, is selling regular gasoline at his Texaco station on D Street in Colma at less than cost, in violation of the State

Business and Professions Code.

The suit, filed for the Jobbers Association by attorney Richard N. Salle, of San Jose, alleges that Shimek lowered the price for regular gasoline at the D Street station to 23.9 cents a gallon on October 29, when he was paying at least 26½ cents a gallon for the fuel.

Consequently, it is charged, the gallonage has declined at competing stations, which are charging at least 28.9 cents a gallon for regular gasoline.

Lincoln School 'Book Fair'

Mrs. Robert Cremen of Daly City reports that tickets have been going well for the Mercy High School Mothers Guild Fashion show and luncheon.

"The Now Woman" is the theme of the annual benefit which will be held on Saturday in Barrett Hall on the campus of the school.

According to Mrs. Don Fazackerley, publicity chairman for the show, fashions are being provided by Casual Aire of Stonestown with commentary by fashion coordinator Bea Descher. In addition to the exciting 1971 fashions a number of costumes from the twenties and thirties will be shown for fun and contrast.

Open house will follow the formal portion of the afternoon's schedule and guests will have an opportunity to see the elegant new Fine Arts Center on Mercy's campus. Proceeds from the luncheon will be used to help purchase equipment for the new center.

According to Mrs. Fazackerley, the public is cordially invited to attend and lend support to the school's program. Reservations, available with a $5 donation, may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Cremen, 32 Lakemont drive or by calling 756-1286.

MRS. WILLIAM HOLLAND, publicity chairman for the Abraham Lincoln P-TA, has expressed satisfaction over the excellent selection of books and educational games which will be sold during the school's Book Fair and Learning Festival slated to get underway on Monday.

"The prices are so small that children will be able to bring their dimes and quarters and buy more than one item, either for their own enjoyment or to give for presents, Mrs. Holland enthused following a preview look at the hundreds of books and dozens of games which will be displayed for the shopping convenience of parents and youngsters on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in the multi-purpose room of the school.

Parents will have an opportunity to see the entire selection during the monthly P-TA meeting on Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock, Mrs. Holland said.

JUST ONE WEEK remains until the opening of the Mary's Help Hospital Guild's Annual Boutique de Noel!

Special treat this year will be a fashion showing of hand crafted wearing apparel during the champagne preview on Thursday, November 18. According to Mrs. Mario Mangini, committee members will model scarves, ponchos, shawls, tams and other items created by boutique committee members for sale during the boutique.

"With the holiday season just around the corner it is time to think of holiday creations and whatever your fancy, you will no doubt be delighted with the unusual artistry of Christmas decor available at the sale," Mrs. Mangini announced.

IN ADDITION to being the night of the boutique preview, next Thursday evening will be an important one for friends of Fifty Plus Club president Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan and her daughter, Mrs. Violet Desmond.

Mrs. Desmond will be installed as worthy matron during the Casimir Chapter 25, Order of Eastern Star's sixty-fifth installation of officers beginning at 8 p.m. in the Mt. Davidson Masonic Temple in San Francisco. Also to be installed, during the same ceremony, will be Fifty Plus Club member Sam Lombardi, who will become the chapter's worthy patron.

Mrs. Albert Balistreri, chairman of the Riordan Guild's Mother-Son Communion Breakfast has selected November 21 for this year's edition of that event.

The Mass will begin at 8:30 a.m. in Chaminade Hall on the Riordan High school campus. Mrs. Balistreri reports, with Father James P. McKay of St. Brendan's Parish the featured speaker.

Mrs. Balistreri announced plans for the communion breakfast during the regular monthly guild meeting held last evening at the school.

Last night's meeting was made very special by the presence of two guests, Father Bertrand E. Clemens, the Provincial Superior of the Province of the Pacific of the Society of Mary, and Brother Robert N. Costa, S.M. director, Hawaiian Science Study Tours.

Mrs. John Ferguson, publicity chairman for the guild, reports that a special meeting concerned with the study tours will be held in room 201 at 8 p.m. on Monday, November 29, at Riordan. Persons interested in the international study tours are asked to attend or to call Brother Costa, 586-8200.

MEMBERS OF THE San Francisco Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega are hopeful of entertaining the sorority's regional counselor, Adelaide del Prete, at a dinner party prior to her official visit to the chapter on the evening of December 3, according to Mrs. Barbara Wolowic, publicity chairman for the chapter.

AMONG THOSE attending the recent champagne preview of the Burlingame Art Society's annual show were localites Mrs. R. R. L. Ariani, and Daly City artist Edna Van Koughnet.

The show was held in the Royal Coach Inn.

OLPH Mothers' Club to Meet

Our Lady of Perpetual Help Mothers' Club will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. at the school hall on 80 Wellington Avenue, Daly City.

Mrs. Jean Arnold, chairman of the Reno bus trip on November 13-14, reports that she has a full party of moms and dads for the trip. The group will stay at the Holiday Inn in Reno.

Sister Carol, principal of Our Lady of Perpetual Help School, has asked that each mother try to attend each monthly meeting and she may win a month's free tuition.

President Luella Flaherty said that the sewing committee needs more members who can sew or embroider. It meets weekly in the meeting room behind the church from 10-2 p.m. according to chairman Virginia Stanley.

MR. AND MRS. John Madrosen celebrated their thirty-fifth wedding anniversary with a dinner with friends this past weekend.

Adding a touch of the exotic was the arrival of a huge bouquet of tropical flowers, a gift from the Madrosens' son, Clark, currently serving with the Air Force in the Hawaiian Islands.

GUJARATI CARLOS MONTOYA and his wife, Sally, were guests of honor at a recent Press Club luncheon sponsored by the Newswomen and Associates of San Francisco.

On hand to enjoy an entertaining talk by the artist's wife were Peninsula residents Mrs. Dick Alexander, Mrs. Kenneth Gillespie, Mrs. R. L. Ariani, Mrs. Murray Freedman and Adele Attell.

Westlake P-TA Meeting Thursday

A "Koffee Klatch" with a two-fold purpose will set the scene for the Westlake School P-TA unit meeting at 10 a.m. Thursday in the multi-use room.

Principal Fred Schweickhardt will conduct a "No Holds Barred" discussion. Questions regarding any area of school activities and curriculum will be in order.

This meeting has also been planned to welcome parents of children who come to Westlake School from the Woodrow Wilson and Olympia school neighborhoods, as well as regular Westlake parents.

The 1971-72 P-TA board members to be introduced by Mrs. David Schwimmer, the president, are:

CHILDREN WHO ARE participating in the Daly City Recreation Department's Tiny Tot Program recently visited Fire Station No. 5. The boys and girls talked with the firemen on duty and took close looks at the equipment. Classes are held at the Arts and Crafts Center under the direction of Mrs. Mildren Steinberg and classes held at Westmoor Park Clubhouse are directed by Mrs. Marian Dolgoff. According to Miss Katherine Bradshaw, a recreation supervisor, all classes have a full enrollment, but a new session is tentatively planned for January. Pepperdine Post for Hons Emile R. Hons, son of Mr. Hampton Court, San Bruno, is Student Senate at Pepperdine and Mrs. Robert Hons. the new vice president of the University in Los Angeles.

Hons was a write-in candidate in the student body election last month.

He said he accepted the position because he wanted to change, "not revolt."

A senior art major at Pepperdine, Hons does not find the combination of art and politics inconsistent. Both, he feels, are attempts to get a message across to others.

The message Hons is attempting to convey to the students he represents is one of two-way communication. Through letter writing and sponsored movies he hopes to inspire students to more campus participation.

His interest in art has been encouraged by his parents, both of whom are commercial artists.

Hons co-owns Noah's Art, an art gallery in nearby Inglewood, where his work in painting, pottery and wire sculpture is displayed along with those of other students and community artists.

In a recent contest for residents of California and Hawaii, the California-Hawaii Regional Exhibition, Hons was one of 84 entrants out of 578 selected by the San Diego Art Guild to display his work.

His paintings were shown at the Fine Arts Gallery in San Diego last spring.

He also displayed his wire sculpture at the San Mateo County Fair.

In addition to politics and art, Hons has participated on the varsity track and cross-country teams at Pepperdine. He served both as president of the At Club and the Ecology Club.

After graduation from Pepperdine in 1972, Hons is planning to continue his graduate work in teaching.

He has been attending Pepperdine on an art department Achievement Award since his graduation from Crestmoor High School in 1968.

Pepperdine is an independent, liberal arts, Christian institution with its main campus located in southwest Los Angeles. A second major campus is currently under construction at Malibu, in the Santa Monica Mountains.

Cap Marching Band Wins Merced Event

The Capuchino marching band returned from the Central California Band Review in Merced on November 6 with a first-place division trophy.

Fifty-one of the top bands in California competed, coming from as far away as Fairfield in the north to Lompoc in the south.

Capuchino's score of 85.40 placed them not only first in Division B but in fourth place in the field of 51 bands. The scoring is based on 50 per cent for music and 50 per cent for marching and showmanship. There were ten judges from the American Association of Contest Judges and they judge in the categories of music, marching, showmanship, inspection, drum majors, majorette teams and solo twirling.

Capuchino's Drum Major Jim Harrington competed against 51 drum majors and was awarded a third-place trophy. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harrington of 731 Santa Lucia, San Bruno.

The Merced event is regarded as one of California's two great band reviews, said a band spokesman.

The All-Western Band Review in Long Beach, the other one, will be the next competition for the band. The band is directed by Ralph Bredenberg, assisted by Harry Spencer.

Good morning, good cooks.

Recently I received an interesting booklet about yogurt. Interesting because it had some delicious sounding recipes. I've tested a couple and want to pass them along to you good cooks.

Before we get to the recipes, here's some information and cooking tips on yogurt.

Yogurt is a cultured milk product usually made from fresh, partially skim milk, enriched by the addition of nonfat dry milk to which a special culture of lactic bacteria has been added. The nutritive value of yogurt is the same as the milk from which it is made.

Yogurt is moving up where it belongs — next to its highly regarded cousin, sour cream. Yogurt, too, is smooth, elegant, good-tasting and versatile. Similarly, many families serve yogurt plain, but they have also discovered its versatility when mixed with fruit, honey, preserves or used as ingredient in a recipe.

In one respect yogurt is vastly different from sour cream. Because (hold your waistlines, gals) yogurt has only one-third the calories! And it has the kind of calories that convert to energy, instead of an extra half-inch around the middle.

HINTS FOR COOKING WITH YOGURT

Spare the heat, low temperatures and short heating times are best or, like sour cream, yogurt may separate. (This won't hurt the flavor any, it might not make the food as attractive.)

To prevent separation stabilize yogurt by adding a small amount of cornstarch or flour.

Fold, do not stir yogurt into other ingredients and it will keep its consistency.

For baking, use only ½ teaspoon baking soda for each cup of yogurt used.

This first recipe is quite easy to make and most delicious.

VEAL PAPRIKA

- 3 slices bacon, diced
- ¼ cup chopped onion
- 1½ pounds veal steak, cut in serving portions
- 1 cup plain yogurt
- ½ cup tomato sauce
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- ½ teaspoon salt

Use a large covered skillet. In skillet fry the three slices bacon and fourth cup onion until bacon is crisp; remove and set aside. Brown the pound and half veal steak on both sides. Meanwhile in a small bowl combine the cup yogurt, one-half cup tomato sauce, one tablespoon flour, one teaspoon paprika, half teaspoon salt, bacon and onion; pour over veal. Cover; reduce heat to simmer and cook 25 to 35 minutes or until meat is tender. Stir sauce to combine.

And now for a cookie recipe. These chocolate chip cookies are a little different in that they are more of a soft cake type, rather than the usual crisp variety.

CHOCOLATE CHIP CREAM COOKIES

- ½ cup (1 stick) butter
- 1½ cups light brown sugar, firmly packed
- 2 eggs
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2½ cups sifted regular all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- ½ teaspoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup plain yogurt
- 1 package (12 oz.) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
- 1 cup chopped nuts

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Lightly butter baking sheets. In a mixing bowl cream the half cup butter; gradually add the one and one-half cups brown sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Beat in two eggs and teaspoon vanilla. Sift together two and one-half cups flour, one teaspoon soda, half teaspoon each baking powder and salt; add to creamed mixture alternately with cup yogurt, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Stir in the chocolate pieces and cup nuts. Drop by rounded teaspoonsful onto buttered baking sheet. Bake 10 to 12 minutes. Remove immediately to wire rack to cool.

Yield 6 to 7 dozen.

Counselors are Sought for FSL Summer Abroad

Mr. and Mrs. Hal Fox of Daly City are urging any interested persons who would like to be a counselor for the Foreign Study League and take a group of high school students to Europe next summer to contact them for details.

Inquiries may be sent to 228 Del Prado Dr., Daly City.

In order to qualify the counselors must be teachers or in the case of a man and wife — one must be a teacher, but interested in young people and travel abroad.

The Foxes have been counselors for the league for two summers, in 1970 and in 1971, and said they believe it is a fine learning experience for students and counselors. Many new programs are offered this year for the first time to the West Coast that visit not only the big capitals of the world but take the traveler into some of the smaller "off the beaten track" towns and villages, they said this week.

There will be a meeting at Ullioa School in San Francisco, 2650 - 42nd Ave., near Vicente on November 15, at 7:30, for interested persons.

WCS Planning 'Safari Bazaar'

Mrs. Bill Drosky, president of the WCS of St. Paul's United Methodist Church, has announced a "Safari Bazaar" at the church, at Miller and Spruce Streets, South San Francisco, November 12.

The hours: 10 a.m.-4 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. and November 13, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

There will be a buffet luncheon available.

Food, plants, stationery, handwork, Christmas booths are planned, as well as a "White Elephant."

Astonishing Inspiration

Only occasionally in man's lifetime does he come up with an incredible, astounding, remarkable and ingenious idea.

Even rarer is when he manages to get that idea to the general public.

Well, friends, I have such an idea. And through the power of the press, it will now be circulated among legions of Peninsulans. Here it is:

BREAD ROOM SPRAY!!

(Reader turns to spouse, a worried look on his face. "Hey, Martha, look at this. The guy has really gone off the deep end this time.")

No, listen.

What's the most welcoming aroma you can imagine when you walk into somebody's home? Right. The aroma of baking bread. Now, all you've got to do is somehow get that aroma into an aerosol can, sell it for 59 or 89 cents and we'll make a fortune!

Ready-made hospitality, in a can. I can see it now. Jack Narz or Truman Bradley — or maybe even George Feniman in living color extolling the virtues of Bread Room Spray.

"Ladies, is your home somehow cold . . . aloof? Warm it up with Bread Room Spray."

Or Peter Fonda, appealing to the younger generation.

"Man, when I find my pad reeks, I just walk into that grocery store, stroll up to the dude and say, 'Lay some Bread on me.'"

It's a natural, I tell ya. A gold mine. And when we've made a million on that we can try shrimp ice cream, and beer milk shakes, and . . .

BAKED PORK CHOPS AND APPLE STUFFING

- 1-third cup butter or margarine
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¾ teaspoon sage
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ½ cup coarsely chopped onion
- ½ cup diced celery
- 4 cups toasted bread cubes
- 2 to 3 large Washington Golden Delicious or Winesap apples
- ¼ cup raisins
- 6 pork chops, cut ¾ to 1 inch thick
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon apple jelly

Melt butter; add ½ teaspoon salt, sage, pepper, onion and celery and cook over low heat until vegetables are almost tender. Pour over bread cubes, stirring lightly to distribute ingredients evenly. Pare, core and coarsely chop 1 to 2 apples to make 1½ cups. Stir apple and raisins into stuffing mixture and turn into baking dish (11½ x 7½ x 1½ inches).

Brown chops in lard or drippings, sprinkle with 1 teaspoon salt and arrange on top of stuffing. Cover tightly with foil and bake in slow oven (325 degrees) 1 hour. Cut remaining apple in six slices (crosswise), removing core portion, and place 1 slice on top of each chop. Cover and bake 20 minutes longer. Remove cover, brush apples with jelly and bake, uncovered, 5 to 10 minutes longer. 6 servings.

OVEN BARBECUED WINE SHORT RIBS

- 5 pounds beef short ribs, cut into 2 or 3-inch lengths
- 2 medium-sized onions, finely chopped
- 1 cup dry red wine
- 2-hrds cup catsup
- 3 tablespoons soy sauce
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- ½ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper

Put ribs into a Dutch oven or heavy casserole with cover.

Sprinkle with onions. Stir together with wine, catsup, soy, brown sugar, and pepper; and pour over. Cover and bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) for 1½ hours or until meat is very tender. Turn and stir once. (Add a little more wine during cooking, if necessary to keep onions and meat moist.) Remove meat from juices. Cool juices and remove excess fat. Return meat to kettle. Cover and reheat before serving. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

GOLDEN MASHED POTATOES

- 12 medium-sized potatoes, pared and cut into halves
- ¼ stick (4 tablespoons) butter
- 1 cup hot milk
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Pepper to taste
- 2 tablespoons melted butter

Cook potatoes in boiling salted water until tender. Drain.

Mash well with 4 tablespoons butter, hot milk and seasonings. Spoon into 10-inch pie pan. Using a spoon, fluff the top to stand in peaks. Drizzle melted butter over the top. Place under broiler until golden brown, approximately 3 to 5 minutes.

HALIBUT-SALAD BUNWICHES

- 1 pound halibut or other firm fish, steaks or fillets
- 1 quart boiling water
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- 2-thirds cup salad dressing or mayonnaise
- 2 tablespoons well-drained sweet pickle relish
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- ½ cup finely diced celery
- 6 buttered, toasted sesame-seed or hamburger buns
- 6 large lettuce leaves
- 6 cherry tomatoes or small tomato wedges
- 6 small sweet pickles

Place steaks or fillets in boiling, salted water (3 tablespoons salt). Cover and return to boiling point; simmer for 10 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Drain. Remove skin and bones. Flake. (Yield: 2 cups flaked halibut.) Combine salad dressing or mayonnaise, pickle relish, onion, lemon juice, and remaining salt; mix well. Add halibut, or other fish, and celery; mix carefully. Cover bottom half of each bun with a lettuce leaf. Top each with about 1-third cup salad mixture. Cover with buns. Spear cherry tomato or tomato wedge and sweet pickle with a wood pick or metal skewer, kabob fashion, and insert into center of each bun top. Makes 6 servings.

Benefit Theatre Program At Fox Skyline Next Week

A theatre program, unique in the Bay Area in recent years, will be held November 17.

Maritime Art At Periwinkle Art Gallery

"Whales, Wrecks and Wooden Ships" describes the exhibit at Periwinkle Art Gallery, Pacifica.

Pedro Point resident, Mark Myers had painted a series of maritime paintings depicting the maritime history of the San Mateo County seacoast.

Myers, at age 15, was producing a amazingly detailed drawings of sailing ships. Mark has sailed before the mast on both schooners and square-riggers. His growth as an artist and marine historian is due to the expert tutelage of Dr. John H. Kemble of Pomona College. Mark has had two one-man shows under the auspices of the San Francisco Maritime Museum. His latest show was displayed on the Balclutha.

Mark has researched the history of the coastline, its wrecks and other maritime phenomena.

Transportation Discussion by LWV Continues

The League of Women Voters of North San Mateo County will complete its discussion of the study item, Transportation in the Bay Area, and will take consensus of the League members.

Among the questions asked will be: Are the present transportation agencies responsive to the public needs? Is there equitable representation on these boards and commissions? What can the League do to improve regional transportation planning? How should League members evaluate such facets of public transportation as speed, noise, comfort, safety? What values should be given to environmental changes brought about by various modes of transportation?

A League consensus means agreement has been reached by a substantial number of members after study and group discussion. The points of agreement from the Leagues of the nine Bay Area counties then become a position and a basis of action on regional problems that the Leagues have studied.

Nite Life Dinner Club Memberships Available

For those who missed the opportunity to purchase a membership to the Nite Life Dinner Club, (the coupon advertisement appeared in the San Mateo Times and the San Bruno Recorder-Progress, last week), there is still time to do so. You may either purchase an issue at the newspaper office or drop by the Nite Life branch office, located at 1417 El Camino Real in San Mateo, to buy a membership book. This is a great chance to enjoy dining out in a bracket that is tailored for your budget. (Two dinners for the price of one) . . . South American dishes are always the specialty of the house at Torres Beach restaurant in Montara. Frank and Fannie Torres have gone to great lengths to see that their ethnic dishes are unduplicated anywhere this side of the South American border . . . Elegance is the word that best describes Atherton's Lord Fletcher Inn, where the authentic English food, drink and decor whisks diners away to the better pubs of London. Everything at the Inn, which is under the direction of general manager Andy Ardito, is absolutely first class. Even valet parking is offered. . . .

CONGENIAL TED INCE is the managing co-owner of The Mast, the newest addition to Jack London Square, Oakland. Situated at the foot of Webster near Jack London's cabin. The Mast has an intimate waterfront setting with a view overlooking the marina and estuary.

Nick's Sea Breeze Motel Retreat

You'll find Nick's Sea Breeze Motel, located on the shores of the Pacific Ocean in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, is the ideal setting for a weekend rest. This seashore retreat is just a short drive from the Peninsula, via Highway One. Adjoining the motel in Nick's famous restaurant and lounge, where happy gatherings of the local set and out-of-town regulars dine, sip, dance and make merry. Breakfast, lunch and dinner served seven days a week . . . The Moonraker is another restaurant that has everything one seeks when he wishes to combine a pleasant drive with an excellent meal. Situated just across the way from Nick's, this Nick Gust-owned restaurant features a dinner menu which includes an impressive array of entrees, with choices from Whole Pacific Coast Rex Sole to Tenderloin of Beef a la Stroganoff . . . For the best in Mexican fare, The Papagayo Room (located in the same building on the lower level) is creating much conversation with its Combination Plate. Measuring at least a foot-and-a-half in diameter, the meal-in-itself Mexican plate is loaded with juicy taco, cheese-covered enchilada, rice, refried beans and a chile relleno.

Joe Piccinini At Oreste's Broiler

Oreste's owner Joe Piccinini, one of the best known maitre d's in San Francisco, is also an excellent chef. Besides supervising the kitchen in his restaurant to be sure each dish is cooked to perfection, he will cook personally any dish of your choice. Banquet rooms are available for groups of most any size . . . Don Althoff, Ernie's Liquors president, and his wife, Jean, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. King of an eastern distillery, for cocktails and dinner in the Greenwillow dining room at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel . . . Direct from a smash tour of the Reno-Lake Tahoe circuit, Cisco and Boston Mason are going "right ahead" in the lounge of Russo's (The Distillery) in San Bruno. The show combines a unique blend of musical artistry and free-wheeling comedy. In addition, their gal bass player is one of the best performing with a group in the area. See them Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights . . . Among the many prominent guests enjoying dinner at Lew Lehr's Steak House, in San Francisco's Marina District, the other night: Mr. and Mrs. Artie Samish, the former political power broker.

Yolanda's Family-Style Dining

Yolanda's Terminal Cafe, located in South City's Golden Gate Produce Terminal, is where "family-style" dining is still in effect, and business couldn't be better. Old-fashioned Italian entrees (changed daily) are featured, with both meat and fowl being served (and sometimes fish). Patrons feast on six courses, complimented with a bottle of house wine . . . Lucien Sabella, popular Fisherman's Wharf restaurateur, has a new hobby. Since becoming a low-score "golf great," the A. Sabella's restaurant owner has been collecting an assortment of colorful sweaters, which are causing much comment among the "model-dressed" golf pros . . . Stickney's elegant banquet room, located on the lower floor in the Fifth Avenue Center Building, San Mateo, has a specially trained staff to tend to all your party needs. Accommodating groups from 30 to 300, and including its own private bar and dance floor, the well-appointed facilities are ideal for breakfast, lunch or dinner parties, business meetings, receptions and holiday celebrations. Free parking area to accommodate several hundred cars is located in the rear of the building.

BUNDLE OF JOY — Margie Brandon, Clancy's peppy organist, is increasing the sales of stereos and hi-fi sets since the release of her LP album. Margie sells her album to people who don't even own a record player and promptly encourages them to invest in one. If this little gal was turned loose in Alaska, she'd be selling refrigerators to the Eskimos.

Scotty Campbell's Outstanding Menu Design

Scotty Campbell's, a Redwood City restaurant which was recently recognized by the National Restaurant Association and the Golden Gate Association for its outstanding menu design, and awarded another plaque for its quality by the Ford Times, is the solid manifestation of solid management. Meaning, of course, Mary Lou Francis, Theresa and Bud Urban, and Mrs. Helea Trainor, mother of both Theresa and Mary Lou, who host-own this prestige Peninsula landmark . . . The entire Licata family works together to direct the operation of Vince's Italian and Sea Food restaurant, and the next-door Fish Depot. Yes, there are also excellent steaks on the menu, which contains a vast selection of gourmet delights. To slake the thirst, there are any number of domestic and imported wines, plus your favorite cocktails . . . Sherwin-Williams Paint Co. execs, headed by Bruce M. Nichols, held a gourmet dinner meeting in the elegant Wellington Room of Phil Lehr's Steakery, in downtown San Francisco. Among the top executives attending: D. W. BRIGHT LIGHTS
BY LLOYD JOHNSONThanksgiving Day Feast
For Castaway Patrons

Jim Pias, general manager of the exotic Castaway, at Coyote Point, suggests early reservations for their traditional Thanksgiving Day feast. Dinner service will begin at 12 noon and continue until 10 p.m. Thanksgiving at The Castaway last year was a record breaker, as far as number of dinners served, and the restaurant expects this year to be the best yet. . . . Rene Donati, co-owner of the New Southern restaurant, and Larry Bertolucci, co-owner of the South San Francisco foodmark bearing his name, are good friends who have many things in common besides owning successful restaurants. One of these is golf, and they take the game quite seriously. Local real estate is another common interest. . . . Ann Reed, well-known guitarist and songstress, opens Tuesday night in the luxurious Lancer Lounge of South San Francisco's Holiday Inn. Performing nightly, Tuesdays through Saturdays, Anne, who is no stranger to the local niter scene — having played most of the top lounges on the Peninsula — has been booked for an indefinite engagement. . . . Chuck's Steak House is noted for its superb steaks served in an intimate, relaxed atmosphere. Only the finest Eastern, corn-fed meat is used, and the menu prices are most attractive. Another often-ordered item is the Steak and Lobster Combination.

VERSATILE ENTERTAINER — Bernie Rivera is the founder and leader of Brotherly Love, the group currently marquee'd at The Band Stand in Redwood City, and on the off nights at DeeJay's, Belmont. Rivera, a graduate of CSM, has many musical accomplishments. His vocals not only lead the group, but he plays several instruments (sax, flute, guitar, organ and piano).

Exposition Features Daily Specials

In addition to the regular bill-of-fare, you'll always find daily specials at Sil Oliva's Exposition Fish Grotto, Fisherman's Wharf. Menu selections are numerous, with Rex Sole and Crab Cioppino considered house specialties. The Chef's Combination Fried Sea Food Plate is another example of chef Art Davis' culinary artistry. . . . If it's time for you to take a brief winter vacation or even a weekend jaunt, Park Avenue Tours can help you save money. With four Bay Area offices to serve you, Park Avenue Tours offers a variety of money-saving transportation and lodging packages to Nevada destinations (Reno, Lake Tahoe, Las Vegas). Special winter rates are now in effect. . . . The inviting dining room at Le Bistro Rouge on Twenty-fifth Avenue, San Mateo, conveys something of a French cafe atmosphere. The adroit use of colors has given the room unusual warmth and dignity.

"I'd like to bite her neck!" (referring to the screaming girl in Dracula's coffin) was just one of the many side comments which people made as they walked through the Family Service Agency's Spook House this year.

The Spook House, a successful fund-raiser, has become an annual activity for Terra Nova drama students, who provide the agency with its ghoulish cast that ranges from werewolves and witches to the Bride of Frankenstein.

Aside from the strange looks and double-takes by passing, quizzical motorists that the costumed TN spooks received on the highways en route to the Spook House, the TN entourage can tell of many amusing inside happenings — such as the time when the Gorilla (Tim Kennedy) decided to escape from his captivity and grunted his way outside to the parking lot, which enticed an excited reaction from the onlookers; or when Dracula (J. B. Gasowski), in the midst of his famous fang scene with the previously mentioned girl in the coffin (Barbara Capizano), was accosted by several Oceana freshmen girls who maliciously chanted, "Tiger meat! Tiger meat! Greasy! Greasy!" throughout the duration of his act.

Then there was the "body" hanging on a wall just outside of the Mad Scientist's Laboratory, and who was continuously being socked in the stomach by "curious" children, and the Mad Scientist himself (Mark Patterson), who insisted in telling the Family Service Agency ladies (who came in periodically to replenish the dry ice and to dole out throat lozenges) that "the molecular equation of CO₂ was equal to 6.02x10²³ molecules, and it's molar mass is 48 grams."

The last night, Count Dracula Jr. came to help the spooks. He was Tommy, a pint-sized neighborhood kid and frequent customer of the Spook House, who went through several times in his own costume (which included a miniature black Dracula cape, fangs, and slicked-down hair).

On his fifth time through, some of the witch guides decided to let Tommy become part of the act, before he stole the show, and he got to be Count Dracula's side-kick for the rest of the evening.

The Spook House was located in the old sewage plant building, and the lines to get in tended to get quite long. But the screams, tears, laughter, and other generally satisfied reactions that it received seemed to be a worthwhile compensation for the long and odorous wait.

The Spook House will be back again next year. In the meantime, I hope Tommy keeps practicing.

Phil Manchester — fingerprinting, reading, personal fitness, swimming, aviation, wather, first aid, safety. Jay Pierce — conservation. F. J. Pratt — safety, citizenship in home, reading, personal fitness, Indian lore, leatherwork, conservation, aviation, weather, cooking. Kevin Thorson — wildlife, conservation.

Troop officer warrants were presented to Rich Bagnall, Jim Brooks, George Demakas, Mike Dittmore, Martin Dreiling, Jay Pierce and F. J. Pratt; and service awards went to Scouts Rich Bagnall, Drew Brooks, Mike Burns, Martin Dreiling, Jim Heryford, Phil Manchester and Kevin Thorson, as well as to adult leaders Ray Boasso, Bill Leavitt and Fred Pratt.

Dick Brooks was honored for his service to the troop as committee chairman, and welcome went to new Committee Chairman Bill Schumacher and Assistant Scoutmaster Bill Leavitt. The troop's eighth project S.O.A.R. award for 1971 was presented to Senior Patrol Leader Jim Brooks, and a Certificate of Appreciation from Friends of the Daly City Library was accepted by Assistant Senior Patrol Leader Rich Bagnall.

Plans Announced for Third Annual Pacifica Elf Market

The Pacifica Parks, Beaches & Recreation Department will sponsor its third annual Elf Market on December 4 and 5 at Cabrillo Schoolm

The Elf Market is a Holiday flea market designed to provide the community organizations with an opportunity to sell their hand-made bazaar items in one big sale.

Organizations entering the elf market will set up a booth to sell their holiday items and decorations, which have all been hand made by the members of the organization.

No manufactured gift items are allowed in the sale unless they are incorporated in some way into the actual gift made by one of the members. This year some of the gift items to be on sale will include Christmas tree ornaments, crocheted items, jellies and nut breads, jewelry, and a variety of Holiday decorations.

The elfateria will again be set up by the Mizpah Fellowship to serve coffee, cookies and sandwiches to those who come to do their holiday shopping.

Each organization which enters the Elf Market must pay a $2.00 entry fee for their table, which will cover the cost of the program. Some of the organizations involved in this year's

Family Forum

Elf Market include the include the Beta Sigma Phi of Tau Gamma, the Mizpah Fellowship, Campfire Girls, A.A.U.W., the Pacifica Arts and Lapidary Society, the Women's Circle, St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Skyline morning Tops Club, Child Evangelism Fellowship, San Andreas Home School Club, Girl Scout Troops, Pacifica Police Wives and the Mary Martha Fellowship, and the Pacifica Co-Op Nursery. All of these organizations are busily working on their Christmas and Holiday gifts and decorations to be sold at the Elf Market. Other organizations interested in participating in the Elf Market should contact Ginny Silva, recreation superintendent, at the Parks, Beaches and Recreation Department, 170 Santa Maria Avenue.

The Jeff Scene

By SUE MCALLISTER

Jeff will be represented at a countywide Human Relations Conference by 11 students on November 15 to 17 at the Villa Hotel in San Mateo.

The students are Mark Molina, Pam Nelson, Pam Passaglia, Fred Perriera, Larry Pucini, Renee Rogers, Alex Senica, Janice Williams, Stan Wong, and Janet Morris.

The conference is a gathering of adults and students from the Sequoia, San Mateo, South San Francisco, and Jefferson Districts.

Its purpose is to demonstrate racism in our institutions and to help students devise ways to overcome racism. Keynote speakers will be Father Lucas, a Black priest; Charles Garry, attorney for the Black Panthers; and Birch Bayh, U.S. Senator from Indiana.

This year the election of the Jeff Homecoming Queen and her Court will be done differently than previous years. The varsity football team will nominate four girls for Queen with each class nominating for candidates for its Princess. This suggestion was made since rather than let the Senior Class nominate two and the football team two for Queen and Senior Princesses, since the football team sponsors the Queen.

The Junior Class is holding a pancake breakfast and raffle on November 13. (From the profits collected the Class will use the money to sponsor their Junior Prom and Senior Activities.) One may buy a ticket to the breakfast for $1.50 adults and 50c children while the raffle tickets (for a 10 speed) 25c.

Millbrae Office Building Is Approved

By GEORGE GOLDING

A two-story office building complex was approved for Millbrae's bayshore last week, although two Councilmen commented bitterly that it was not what they wanted.

An almost equally bitter hearing on the city's first condominium plan followed, ending with a 4-1 approval vote.

Council members questioned Robert Ryan, partner in the Ryan-Marocco development firm which proposed the shore-side office complex, for more than an hour, in a public hearing.

They asked for details on landscaping, parking, water supply and other aspects of the $10,000,000 project.

Once Ryan was asked whether the lawn he would install over a pad of landscaped earth would be real grass or "Astroturf."

"No," he said, "it will be the kind you mow every Saturday." Ryan said his plans include a small lake, underground parking for some 700 cars, 200,000 square feet of office space.

He agreed to help the city finance a traffic signal light at Old Bayshore and Millbrae Avenue, the corner near his property, to bear the expense of sewer line additions, to install a new fence along a drainage canal, to pave and maintain a city access road in exchange for being able to use it as a driveway, to replace existing street lights with the newer mercury vapor type, and to provide adequate bonds to guarantee that the landscaping be done and that a 12-inch water line will be laid in from a half-mile away on El Camino Real, at his expense.

Mayor James O'Connor and Councilman Bernard Esser voted against the proposal, telling other Council members that "this is your last shot" at deciding what should be built on the site that has stood vacant for eight years, according to rules of the planned-unit-development zoning.

Esser also said the plan entirely fits the city's administrative office zoning requirements, except for a "serious deficiency" in parking, and said Ryan-Marocco should have asked for a re-zoning instead of seeking approval of a planned-unit project.

"I feel that this project is second or third rate for the type of development I would like to see" on this site, Mayor O'Connor said.

Councilman Harold Purpus had moved for approval of the plan, after Esser's motion to deny had been voted down 3-2.

"If you agree with this plan for parking," said Esser, "then you don't agree with the laws of the city."

Councilman Arthur Lepore said he shared Esser's concern for parking, but that the project devoted 61 per cent of its ground area to open space, "and that 61 per cent is in consideration of the human beings that are going to be there."

Upon being defeated by Purpus, Lepore and Councilman William Glang, both Mayor

O'Connor and Councilman Esser pledged their support of the project, and told Ryan he could expect "every cooperation" from the city.

They then took up Quinto Investment company's appeal to a Planning Commission denial of the firm's plans to create a condominium ownership of property at Ashton and Millbrae Avenues.

Attorney Hugh Connolly said the request was for approval of a resubdivision map which creates one parcel out of three, allows for separate ownership of seven living units on the property, and joint ownership of an open space "common area." Councilmen attacked Connolly for carrying the project through regular planning commission channels as a plan to build two duplexes and one triplex, and then "springing" the plan for condominium ownership later. City Attorney Frank Gilio explained that "in 15 years of condominiums in California, no one has found a good way to handle it," because state laws so rigidly control condominium use that cities have little leeway, and therefore there is no city law which says how such requests should be handled.

More than one neighbor also objected, saying the plan was a scheme to create apartment ownership in an area zoned for duplex use.

In the end, councilmen voted 4-1 in favor of the plan, with Councilman Purpus objecting to overruling the planning commission.

Check Furnaces, Pacificans

A recent fire broke out in a Pacifica home, causing a family of six to flee into the night.

Total damage was estimated at $3,000, including the loss of several irreplaceable personal items.

The fire originated in an overheated furnace, caused by the combination of dust and lint on the replaceable filter, and an automatic heat limit control which failed to operate. The fire entered the wall next to the furnace and readily spread into the attic.

With the onset of cool weather, Pacifica residents are reminded to check their furnace filters and replace them if necessary. Fire Marshal Bob Bingham said, "The nominal cost of a new filter will help prevent an expensive fire, plus increase the efficiency of your heating system, reducing fuel bills." He continued, "Furnaces should be inspected regularly by a reputable repairman —

S.F. Trio Arrested For Robbery

Three San Franciscans were arrested in South San Francisco Thursday after they allegedly tried to rob the Rodeway Inn.

A fourth suspect fled.

Two of the suspects are 17 years old, and police declined to release their names. The third was identified as 20-year-old Anthony R. Berry of 56 Banks Street, San Francisco.

The authorities said a call had been received at 1:19 a.m. regarding a suspicious vehicle on Marco Way, just off South Airport Boulevard.

Patrolmen Dennis Sullivan and John Moran responded. They said they saw a vehicle parked in front of Rodeway, but it sped off as the patrolmen arrived.

At the same time, the policemen saw three men at the clerk's desk inside the Inn, just as their car radio alerted them of an in-progress armed robbery there.

When the suspects saw Sullivan and Moran, they fled the building but were apprehended by the patrolmen at the southeast corner of the Inn.

The clerk had refused to give the trio the money it had demanded, police said, but the men did not have time to retaliate.

The at-large suspect fled the scene in a white 1962 Chrysler, license number 783-DGF, according to a police department spokesman.

THE MARQUEE

By Barbara Bladen

"I don't know anything about what... but I know what I like, is a clinche that Parker Brothers has turned into the second biggest selling board game in its 83 year history. With the exception of 'Monopoly,' of course.

An art auction game for three to six players, ages 12 to adult, one needn't know anything about art to play but will have a familiarity with such famous paintings as Degas, Renoir, Delacroix, Van Gogh, Toulouse-Lautrec, Monet, Chagall, Rubens, Picasso, El Greco, Rembrandt and at least a dozen lesser known artists.

But what is fun is that if you do have personal preferences in art, and have collected those art reproduction postcards from museums you've visited on your travels, you can substitute your own collection (as long as they are postcard size).

The first change I made after receiving the handsome game from Randolph Barton, Executive Vice President of the world's largest publisher of board games, Parker Brothers, Inc. was to destroy the American Gothic portrait of a farmer and his dour wife by Grant Wood... a lifelong irritation from that particular painting exempts it from anything I'd connect with 'fun.'

The idea is to roll the dice for a chance at different cards, some of which value a painting at one million and some that label it a forgery. Today's investment market puts art above real estate as a secure way of doubling one's profits and for youngsters, learning to recognize the styles and theme of famous artists is doubly rewarding.

Did you ever wonder how games are invented? Discovered? Developed? There are ten highly thought of companies who research what the public wants and is ready for, put their staff to work at figuring out the mechanics of the game and then offer the idea to such leading manufacturers as Parker Bros. In the case of "Masterpiece," Marvin Glass Associates was commissioned to "develop" an art game for Parker who could have rejected if their sales department didn't like it. Glass will receive royalties on every game sold, just as in the book publishing business.

Of 100 games in the Parker Bros. line, only four were developed internally. They go out looking for creative organizations of which there are two in Los Angeles, several in New York and Chicago and Frank Armbruster's Products Of The Behavioral Sciences Ind., in Palo Alto.

The parent company divides their products into action, card, board and puzzle categories. Among their new lines this year is Nerf, a larger version of their popular Nerf Ball that has a wire loop you can hang over a door and play indoors basketball; "Hurry Up," a skill action game involving marbles shot into a basket up a metal track, "Bug Out" which has bug duplications inside a mesh cage that are fished out by the players with a hook and a large picture puzzle in a compact, smallish box on Foods Of The World.

In recent years, Parker has tied in two major publishing firms for the rights to such Americana memorabilia as the cover paintings from Saturday Evening Post, world shattering headlines from the New York Times and Time-Life pictorial series of 'Countries of the World,' 'Animals of the World' and 'Foods of the World,' for their puzzles.

This year they went arty, securing from the Chicago Art Institute reproductions of 24 famous paintings hangings on their walls. In "Masterpiece" the money may be fake but the souvenir art prints are authentic. Skill and good luck prevailing, even a 12 year old can own a Rembrandt.

In the game business, Barton says 'war is out,' and art is in. "ESP and occult games have not proved successful, despite interest in the subject."

"People just take it too seriously and don't play around with it."

Ryan May Enter Congressional Race

Neither Congressman Paul McCloskey (Rep.) nor State Assemblyman Leo Ryan (Dem.) were willing to make firm commitments this morning as to what the carving up of San Mateo County into two congressional districts will mean in their plans.

A newsman who talked to Ryan last year, however, indicated that he found the South San Francisco assemblyman just a hair away from being ready to throw his hat into the congressional ring in the abbreviated Eleventh Congressional District that would be created if an Assembly reapportionment plan goes through.

A Ryan aide declare that the North County assemblyman is considering running in the new district, which would have a heavy Democratic majority, but that there are two "ifs."

These are, first, whether the plan is changed substantially before it is signed into law; and, second, what is going to happen on the Republican side of the fence. That means, what is McCloskey going to do.

McCloskey aides would give no indication, except that they knew nothing about the new boundary plan until it was told them by newsmen. McCloskey lives in the "new" Seventeenth District, has his office in the "old" or Eleventh District.

Meanwhile, a close look at the new district that would be created stretching from Hillsborough to beyond Santa Cruz showed that it includes tens of thousands of college students who may register on campus this year. Their registration could increase Democrat proportions, now set at 46.6 per cent in the proposed district.

This includes Stanford University; University of California, Santa Cruz; and a number of smaller colleges.

The abbreviated San Mateo District appears to include only

Skyline College (non-campus residency) and College of Notre Dame.

Whether college students will register on campus is not yet certain, one political aide noted.

The description of the reduced Eleventh Congressional District revealed that San Mateo was almost entirely retained, but that only a tiny portion of Hillsborough remained in the district.

The line through Hillsborough runs from Interstate 280 and the west Hillsborough city limits northeast and south along those limits to El Portal Avenue, southeast on El Portal to Santa Inez, southwest on Santa Inez to Brentwood Road, southeast on Brentwood Road to El Cerrito, southeast on El Cerrito to Crystal Springs, northeast on Crystal Springs to east Hillsborough limits and then along those limits to the Arthur Younger Freeway.

It proceeds southwest on the freeway to Polhemus (Ralston) and east on Polhemus to Hallmark Drive, south and southeast on Hallmark to the south extension of Paddington Court, south on this extension to the south on this extension to the east on those to Old County Road.

TV's Year of the Old Man

This seems to be the year of the old men on television. A new series exhumes Jimmy Stewart from a grave in the land of the late, late show.

Henry Fonda, Burl Ives and Robert Young star in shows that are continued from last season. Dean Martin airs his aging vocal pipes and shakes his wrinkled face at girls 30 years his junior.

Of them, all, Jimmy Stewart wins a ton of bricks. Although cast as a college professor, he is the country bumpkin he has been in most of his movies.

Imagine a saddle-tramp with a PhD — that's Jimmy. Throughout the time the moguls of TV allow him, he speaks like a fieldhand dropping his "g's" and slurring his "r's" as he has done in westerns for 30 years.

Imagine a teacher who looks like a farmer in his Sunday clothes and acts like a hill-billy out on the town — that's Jimmy.

One of the episodes shows the bewildered college professor pitching a drunk in San Francisco. Under the tutelage of a fellow teacher, he samples the evils served up by the demon rum.

Then he takes his thick head to his mother's palatial home where the villain of the show — the butler — serves him creamed codfish for breakfast.

But the professor triumphs in the end as he rushes home to save his wandering son from being lost in the woods.

The show is full of "great scenes and memorable lines. One scene shows Professor Bumpkin standing before an audience of waiters and diners as he announces that he's "gotta" go home to mother's for breakfast. A later scene shows his wealthy but befuddled mother calling her absent servants and then saying, "They're not here. They're Catholics."

Henry Fonda, in his show the "Smith Family," is served with a better script than Stewart's, but not much better. Henry appears therein as a make-up man's masterpiece. Without wrinkles and without gray hair he comes before the camera to play a low-key cop who loves the crooks that he fills with bullet holes. No doubt Fearless Fosdick and Sergeant Friday are his coaches. There is educational material in the show, however, because in each episode the viewers learn that policemen are not called pigs at home and that not every middle-class family can afford a rumpus room.

As for Dean Martin, his show is pleasant; his voice is still uncracked, but his teen-age jokes seem crude in the mouth of one with such an avaral face.

Once Robert Young had a series that proved that father does not always know best, in spite of the title of the series. Now he is in the second year of a show that proves once and forever that it is the doctor who knows best. Mr. Young is fortunate to be provided with scripts that equal his aged but still great dramatic talents and with a cast that does not include stock characters — such as a small son, a smiling wife, a patient side-kick and a faithful granny.

As if they were not to be overshadowed by old men, several middle-aged stars have series that show that they can or can't act, as the case may be. You can see them in such shows as "Nanny and the Professor," "The Brady Bunch," and "The Courtship of Eddie's Father."

S.F. Sheriff to Study Area Jail

By FRANK LAPIERRE

San Francisco's sheriff-elect Richard Hongisto said on Friday one of the first things he will do after assuming office will be to meet with San Mateo County supervisors to discuss his county jail near San Bruno.

The decaying facility, which once held only violators of petty crimes and now has some felons serving sentences there, has been the subject of growing controversy in recent years.

Two years ago an elderly Pacifica man was beaten to death in his home and escapes from the San Bruno facility were charged with the crime.

Hongisto said the only meetings he has had thus far with his staff have been limited to informal talks, primarily with sheriff's deputy John Courtney, head of the Deputy Sheriff's Association.

He said one of the main concerns of the deputy sheriffs is insufficient disability coverage. He intends to work toward increasing these benefits for his personnel.

And Hongisto wants to take his deputies out of the civil courtrooms, where they act as bailiffs, and put them in the security section of his department.

The new sheriff, who ousted veteran politician Matthew Carberry in the recent San Francisco elections, said he had a personnel shortage problem and transferring deputies from the courts to security would ease this problem.

Rumors circulating that deputies planned a mass walkout in protest over Hongisto's election were labeled false by the sheriff-elect. He blamed "the other camp" for starting the rumors.

Presently the sheriff's department in San Francisco has some 86 per cent "temporary" employees. Hongisto will attempt to get civil service to hold more tests for the Deputy Sheriff post.

The press will also have better access to jail facilities to check conditions, Hongisto pledged.

Asked why he will donate $750 each month of his $2,200 monthly salary, Hongisto replied: "I don't need that much money to live. The money can be better used to help others."

He intends to set up a charitable foundation with his donations and any donations the public may add to the fund.

Hongisto did not specify which organizations would be recipients of this fund. And he would "hope to have a voice in how the money is disbursed," however he will not accept a paying post in the foundation, he said.

On the subject of prison fare, Hongisto said he would apply to the federal government for free rations of surplus foods — something Carberry failed to do.

Those free foods will allow Hongisto to stretch his budget and give the prisoners a protein-high diet.

"The food (now being served) doesn't meet the minimum federal protein content," he charged.

Will he continue to "mix" homosexuals with alcoholics at San Bruno?

The sheriff-elect preferred not to answer that question until he has had time to study the overall system.

Changing the Plans

lached.

Newer aircraft design, and new styles of ramp equipment becoming available, make necessary some re-thinking, he said. Carr was directed by Commission Chairman William McDonnell, to schedule some study sessions on such questions.

Carr also proposed "re-negotiating" all of United Air Lines' property leases into one package, as UAL nears completion of its own $160 million expansion project.

He said several immediate changes will have to be made in the airport's customs area, which is being overstrained by the large crowds of people now flying in on the 747s being used by international airlines.

Airports Commissioners approved a plan for re-locating the Foreign Exchange counter in South Terminal, and combining it with a Bank of America branch in the same building.

They approved spending $700 as the airport's share in an $80,000 San Mateo County sewage master plan study, though commissioners questioned why such a study was necessary when the airport's own sewage plant is designed to handle all problems for 10 or 15 years.

Assistant Airport Manager Thomas Bertken explained that the airport is in much the same situation as most Peninsula cities.

The airport's sewage plant, he said, "now meets the criteria" of the State Water Quality Control Board, "but whether that same standard is going to hold," next year or even next month, "is very much in question."

Commissioners approved expenditure of $250,000 by United Air Lines to modify its overhaul and maintenance base, and $11,000 worth of passenger terminal alterations for Air California.

A Strike Threat?

A teachers union claiming to represent lay teachers at Serra High School and other secondary schools in the San Francisco Archdiocese, has indicated it may strike this month.

In a letter to parents, the Secondary Teachers Association claimed that the interim agreement it has had three years expires with the Archdiocesan schools on November 13 and that "we cannot get the Archdiocesan Board of Education to bargain meaningfully with us."

The STA listed six grievances:

1. Teachers are underpaid; they seek a "fair and just wage."
2. Substitutes are not hired to replace ill teachers and others have to substitute in addition to regular duties.
3. Classes are overloaded.
4. Fringe benefits are lower than those public schools offer.
5. There is a limit to the amount of incentive units permitted for professional growth.
6. The supplementary scale for work in extra-curricular activities is inadequate.

These issues were reported in a letter by the STA to parents of pupils in the district. The STA letter, signed by Gerald J. Killian, STA president, charged that the Archdiocese has either said "no" or refused consideration to these issues.

The STA was recognized as sole bargaining agent for the schools three years ago, it reported, and since that time has worked under an interim working agreement.

"We feel that we can only work under a contract that is mutually agreed upon," the teachers group said. "We do not wish to interrupt your child's education," it told parents; "but our teachers are not under contract to work after November 13."

An enclosure informed that San Mateo public teachers start at $7,650, get 100 per cent medical and dental benefits, life and income disability insurance, as of last year; there would be a 3 1/2 to 4 per cent increase for 1971-72.

It noted that the Archdiocesan salary is $6,400, some $874 below the average area salary, and $1,241 below San Mateo's beginning scale.

JAMES HALLEY

Post-Times Columnist

The world changes each day, but American perception changes largely at the time of important events. Thus, we learn about Japanese chauvinism at Pearl Harbor, and understand the depreciating situation in the General Assembly of the United Nations at the time of a decisive vote.

More changes are going on at the present time, and our habits of vision and understanding must sharpen if we are not to be seriously injured through inattention and inaction respecting the world as it really is.

No plainer example exists than the changes taking place in our military and maritime situations, and in turn, nowhere can this better be emphasized than with respect to the changing balance of naval power.

Admiral Elmo Zumwalt, Jr., Chief of Naval Operations, has been trying to sound an alarm. Few, unfortunately, have been listening. He presents his position with a sense of urgency as he tries to warn the nation of a seriously deteriorating naval balance. Consider his case. To do this, I take the liberty of repeating some of his thoughts given in a speech last month.

"The Soviet Union emerged from World War II as the greatest of the European land powers." We surrounded her with a series of mutual defense agreements. These and our action in their support were effective in "countering Soviet thrusts and are responsible in large part for Western strength and prosperity today."

But these are maritime alliances. "They depend utterly upon the ability of the United States to freely use the seas to support its allies and to prevent them from being encircled from the sea."

So during a time in which we have been enmeshed in an Asian land war and in which our attention has been devoted to a space program and other matters, the Soviet Union has been building a first rate navy. This great land power is now about our equal on the oceans.

Raymond V. B. Blackman, the editor of "Jane's Fighting Ships" says:

"The situation for the U.S. Navy is serious. By any standards, the Soviet fleet now represents the superpower of a superpower."

What is more, the kind of navy Soviet planners are developing should sharpen our awareness and awaken us from sleepiness. They seek strength in submarines and missile vessels. "The Soviet Navy thus far is designed not to overpower us on the surface of the sea and to attack our shores, but to deny us the use of the seas and to drive us from the positions from which we support our alliances. The large Soviet submarine and missile fleets are admirably suited to the task". Since 1960 Russian anti-ship missile launching platforms have increased by 400 per cent and the Soviets now have over 300 attack and cruise missile submarines. One remembers that the Germans had 57 submarines at the beginning of World War II. Furthermore, the Soviets are continuing to move up and continuing to emphasize the kind of fleet that can isolate America.

Between 1966 and 1971 the United States built 88 combatant and amphibious ships, and during this period Soviet shipyards produced more than 200. "The Soviet fleet now approaches the U.S. fleet in total numbers of combatant ships." At the same time, American forces have declined. Since 1965 Navy strength has been reduced by 25 per cent of ships, 20 per cent of combat aircraft and 7 per cent of its total civilian and uniformed personnel. Just to stay even we should invest $3 billion each year in new construction, and we haven't approached this level of investment for the last eight years.

Zumwalt's argument is persuasive. Add to this the facts that 90 per cent of our import and export tonnage is carried by sea transportation, and also that of the 71 strategic materials needed in our economy, 68 are provided entirely or partially through imports.

Developing isolationism is not really an attitude or an American option. We are being isolated by strength of arms (or rather of ships) and could be left no choice in the matter. The effect of this isolation (perhaps more properly called "neo blockade") could be pervasive, both in our relationships with other nations and in the plain facts of economic life.

Preoccupied with other matters, caught up in a nuclear arms race and deaf to those concerned about American sea power, we are in a deteriorating position. Our Navy is important in many ways, not the least of which is its effect in giving us a range of choice in the manner in which we conduct foreign policy. The Navy is a foundation of American negotiating ability, and as the relative strength of our fleet goes down, our bargaining power will be proportionately weakened. This should not be allowed to occur at a time in history when so much is expected of negotiations.

BETTER BUSINESS

By LORENE BEASLEY
Better Business Bureau

All contractors on January 1, 1972, will be required to file or have on file a Contractor's Bond in the sum of $2500 or in lieu of a cash deposit in the amount of twenty-five hundred dollars. At press time it is still possible all licenses, including those inactive, may be required to file the $2,500 bond or cash deposit on January 1, 1972.

Any contractor whose license is qualified by a Responsible Managing Employee will also be required to file a Bond of Qualifying Individual in the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars or in lieu of a cash deposit in the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars.

This change in the Contractors License Law not only increases the amount of the bond, but clearly requires for the first time, the holder of a license to file the prescribed bond or alternative cash deposit. Any licensee who fails to comply with this section of law will be suspended effective January 1, 1972.

This increase in amount of bond does not apply to disciplinary bonds presently on file. However, Section 7071.8 of the Contractors License Law sets the amount of such disciplinary bonds at not less than three times nor more than ten times the amount of the contractor's bond.

After January 1st, 1972, any application for a license or for restoration of a license by any person or firm whose license has been suspended or revoked will require a minimum bond in the amount of seventy-five hundred dollars up to the maximum of twenty-five thousand dollars in addition to the $2,500 contractor's bond.

The Federal Trade Commission has announced a new trade practice ruling covering the advertising and merchandising of grocery items. Food stores are required by this new ruling, which became effective in July, to have on hand sufficient quantities of advertised "specials" for the duration of any sale.

The Better Business Bureau has been concerned for some time with the problem of non-availability of advertised merchandise. This source of consumer complaint is not restricted to the food industry alone.

The Bureau has maintained that sufficient quantities should be available to satisfy a reasonable customer demand. What constitutes a reasonable customer demand?

A merchant may legitimately experience an overwhelming response to an advertised offer and sell out sooner than planned. It could be a problem of inadequacy of management rather than false advertising. Bureau investigation of complaints against food store chains in most instances have disclosed that a specific store was "sold out" rather than the merchandise was not available.

Scraps - Pockettful of Notes

What do the sports columnists call this kind of column, now? Pocket Full 'O Notes? Is that it? OK, then. Here's a pocket full of notes (Or, I'd better print this pile of scraps before my wife throws it away.)

One thing pro football expansion has done on the positive side (and this may be the only thing, if you discount the lining of owners' purses) is to give unknowns, especially quarterbacks, a chance to display their talent.

Quarterbacks on college teams are often unintentionally kept under wraps by having to hand the ball off in non-pro offenses (although even the smaller colleges are more and more going to the pro sets), therefore forcing the scouts into guessing games. After all, how can a scout really get a line on a kid QB's passing arm when he throws only 10 times a game, and then in obvious pass situations when the opposition can lay in wait for him, to ends who know much more about blocking than they do pass receiving.

In the days before expansion and "sophisticated" college offenses, we wonder how many Johnny Unitas' got away? Unitas was lucky to get discovered. His break was really a freak.

SPEAKING OF UNKNOWNs, wasn't Terry Bradshaw, who was, after all, in the contest of a Joe Namath, a relative unknown from a comparatively small college, supposed to show everybody the fallacy of the importance of having played for a major university? Ironically, he didn't, hasn't, and the guys from the powerhouse colleges may eventually outshine him, after all.

IF YOU'RE UNDER the impression that pro basketball is scoring and nothing else, it may be an education to study the records of the ten men chosen on the NBA Silver Anniversary all-time team last year. Only three of them averaged over 20 points per game during his career. They were Bob Pettit (26.4), Paul Arizin (22.8) and George Mikan (22.6).

The others were: Dolph Schayes (18.2), Joe Fulks (16.4), Bill

Russell (15.1), who was the only unanimous choice, Bob Cousy (18.4), Bill Sharman (17.8), Bob Davies (13.7), and Sam Jones (17.6).

Others nominated were: Bob Feerick, Harry Gallatin, Tom Gola, Richie Guerin, Tom Heinsohn, Neil Johnston, Ed Macauley, Slater Martin, Dick McGuire, Vern Mikkelsen, Jim Pollard, Maurice Stokes, Bobby Wanzer, George Yardley, and Max Zaslofsky.

LEW ALCINDOR (or Kareem Jabbar) has now overtaken Wilt Chamberlain as the all-time highest career field goal percentage shooter . . . 54.8.

WE'VE BEEN HEARING for all these years about how Cazzie Russell, the Warriors' acquisition for Jerry Lucas, is deficient on defense, but he looks more than adequate to us.

Defense in basketball is more a matter of attitude than anything else, anyway. If a player has the desire to play defense, he can generally do an acceptable job. And any man who is athlete enough to be as outstanding offensively as is Russell, is athlete enough to be a good defensive player.

A RANDOM THOUGHT (in our pocketful of notes): There is more pressure on athletes in team sports than on those engaged in individual endeavors. In a team sport, one bad goof by an individual may penalize an entire roster. A mental error in the seventh game of the World Series, or instance, could cost every man on the perpetrator's team an extra $5,000 or so. But a boxer, for example, is basically the only man to suffer should he drop his right when he throws his left, and runs into a left hook. And loses money and pride as a result.

PET PEEVE OF THE MONTH: Athletes who complain about lack of fan support. It's a two-way street, fellas. Why don't you all take cuts in salaries so that owners could lower prices so

1st Win For Cap Gridders

By DAN BERTELOTTI

Capuchino coach Vince Marchi spent all last week putting his previously impotent offense through heavy drills in preparation for Friday's game with Aragon at Burlingame Field.

The drilling paid off; the Mustangs scored the first time they had the ball and downed the Dons, 14-8.

Capuchino opened by taking a short Aragon punt and driving 69 yards in four plays.

All four were on the ground; the big gainer was a 39-yarder by Shane Graham. Charlie Burwell carried the other three times and got the TD from 15 yards out.

The game then turned into a battle between two punters, interrupted only by one score for each team. It was dull going, until just before the end.

But during the final three minutes, the ball changed hands four times, there were four penalties, there was a fumble recovery, and one touchdown was called back.

To top off all that frantic action, Aragon quarterback Dave Matisi dropped back on the last play of the game and cranked one downfield. The ball was tipped by several 'Cap defenders and ended up in Don back Bill Popin's hands.

Popin found himself out in front with a chance for a score that could have won the game. But he was pulled down from behind by swifter defensive backs, and the 'Cap win was salvaged.

The victory was 'Cap's first of the Mid-Peninsula League campaign, and the Mustangs will have two weeks to savor it; they draw a bye next week. Aragon is still winless in four league outings.

Panthers Stun the Falcons

By CHRIS STAVE

The next time Burlingame High's football team takes the field, they may hold the kickoff until the psychiatrist shows up.

The Panthers are insane — last week they gave up 42 points, but on Friday they stunned the scoring team around, handing previously undefeated Crestmoor a solid 26-7 setback.

The Panthers opened the game like madmen — Chuck Smith took the opening kickoff and raced 86 yards down the sideline to score.

Two ball exchanges later, Panther quarterback Clark Anderson hit flanker Art Wicks for 15 yards and another score.

Four plays after that, after chief Burlingame crazy Greg Houts had blocked a Jim Jarvis punt, Andy Kolesnikow carried to the goal line and fumbled across, where teammate Tim Hesselgren recovered for another touchdown.

The first quarter wasn't over yet — Crestmoor had no first downs, and Burlingame had 18 points, more than anyone has scored on the Falcons this season.

The rest of the game went a little more like it was supposed to have, but the Panther defense was still playing like eleven wild men in search of straitjackets.

The Falcons did manage one drive at the opening of the second half, moving from their own 29 on a couple of lookins from Jarvis to Bob Scholl, a 23-yard scamper by Steve Roller and a 34-yard scoring run by George Ama.

But here is a sampling of what happened to the usually unstoppable Falcon offense thereafter:

Crestmoor has a first and goal on the Panther seven. Ed Ama dives for two. On the next play an interference penalty

NPL Race Over? Rams in Major Upset

By JERRY LITTELL

There is a strong possibility that, for all intent and purposes, the North Peninsula League football chase could have ended quite suddenly Friday two weeks before the final game.

Pulling a major upset in sensational fashion, the Westmoor High School Rams upended El Camino's Colts, 30-3, and gave the undefeated South San Francisco Warriors a one-game bulge with two left. Not mathematically home free? Right. But the Warriors have already beaten Terra Nova, the second place team, and face weak Oceana this week in a game that will mean no less than a title-tilt for the Industrial City eleven.

In other NPL action on Friday, the Warriors made it five NPL wins in a row by blasting Half Moon Bay, 41-14; Jefferson shut out Oceana, 14-0, and Terra Nova bombed winless Serramonte, 48-0.

Westmoor 30, El Camino 3
Westmoor, which had been blanked by South City, 27-0, caught the Colts completely off guard. The Rams struck quickly and had Camino reeling throughout the game from ferocious line action. The Colts, who were minus the services of halfback Joe Cortez, could manage just 18 yards rushing while Pete Matisi's lads racked up 191 yards.

Ken Green picked off Rudy Castellanos' aerial on the first play of the game setting the tone for the EC frustration to follow. Two exchanges later Tom Price popped over from the one, ending a 36-yd. drive and, after stopping the Colts and forcing a punt on the next series, Mario Sandoval smashed the kick out into the night behind the goal posts for a safety and a 9-0 Ram lead.

A 63-yard march just before half ended when quarterback Brad Kearns rolled over from the three and the Rams led and had momentum, 16-0. Two fourth period touchdowns, one by Price on a 35-yard run and another by Nick LeBlanc from the four, added insult to injury. Frank Morrison's 28-yard field goal was the only Colt point-getter.

Westmoor just simply dominated the physically bigger Colt defensive line and challenged Camino constantly at the Colts' strongest point — right up the middle. LeBlanc, Price and Al Abbott were seldom stopped on quick openers and Kearns optioned and threw just often enough (14 attempts) to keep the defensive backs honest.

SSF 41, HMB 14

Warrior quarterback Rhod Wallace guided the perfect SSF squad to victory scoring once on a 64-yard run and throwing three more six-point passes, two to Marty Gale and one to fullback Tom Crumpton on a screen, to cap a near perfect Warrior performance. South City played three and one-half quarters of perfect football against the Cougars as Wallace personally completed 10 of his 14 passes for 130 yards. He also rushed for another 99.

It was 34-0 before the Cougars could score as balance, perfection and hard-hitting line play were the key factors for SSF. Jeff Yeran packed 15 times for 87 yards to lead the Cougars.

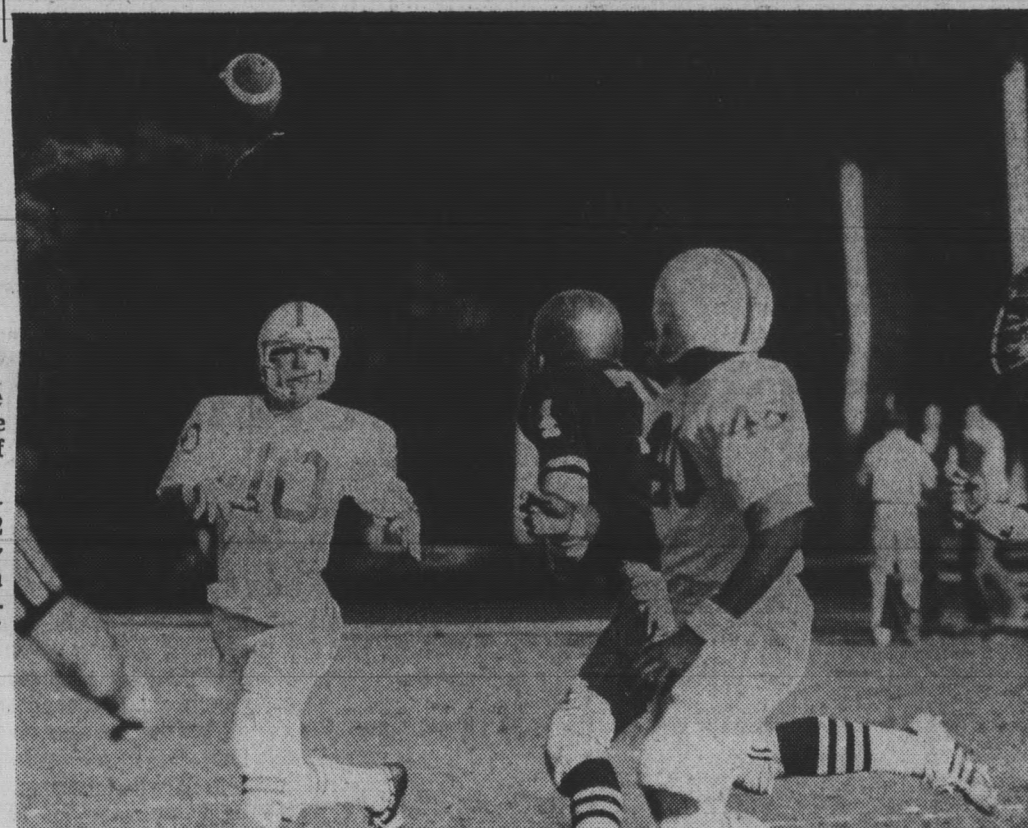

Jefferson 14, Oceana 0

Chinto Fonseca continues his assault on the NPL record book and is virtually assured of repeating as the All-League quarterback for the second-division Jefferson Indians: Fonseca threw 47 times and completed 24 yesterday against Oceana for 315 yards and two touchdowns, both to Ernie O'Connor, as the Indians blanked the Sharks.

Terra Nova 48, Serramonte 0

For the second week in a row the Terra Nova Tigers scored on the first play from scrimmage and both times 80-yard runs were the means. On Friday Louie Sanchez, just a junior, scampered from the 20 to open his 10-carry, 163-yard day. He scored the first four Tiger touchdowns on runs of 83, 25, 2 and 8 yards before Steve Garrison broke the spell with a 40-yard scoring pass from John Raccanelli.

The Tiger defense stopped Serramonte at a minus one-yard rushing and actually allowed just about a one-yard gain per play.

PRIVATE PARTY — Burlingame quarterback Clark Anderson (10) and back Larry Jones (40) celebrate early lead yesterday by getting together on a 10-yard pass play — Crestmoor's Stu Bringham (74) was too late to crash the festivities. (Post Photo)

Sharks Take Coastside Triangular

Oceana High School continued to weave a path of destruction through the North Peninsula League cross-country season on November 4, as the Sharks defeated both South San Francisco and Serramonte in a triangular meet on the Coastside.

Oceana scored 20 points to South City's 41, and 15 to Serramonte's 50, while the Warriors themselves took the hapless Regents by 15-50 score.

Junior Bob McDaniel of the Sharks was the individual winner, touring his 2.1 mile course in a record 10:18 to pace the win. It was the 27th straight dual meet win for Oceana. They remain undefeated for the last three years — quite a record.

Half Moon Bay, Oceana's only competitor for the title, had a struggle yesterday in other NPL action, but finally came up with 26-29 win over Terra Nova. Rudy Snyder's lead the Cougars with a 10:59 clocking on the 2.3 mile Tiger course.

Oceana, which finished the NPL dual meet competition with a perfect 7-0 record, now heads into next Friday's league finals at Golden Gate Park in San Francisco as a heavy favorite to win their third consecutive championship after clinching at least a tie.

However, Half Moon Bay, with its 6-1 league record (16-overall) should provide plenty of problems. The Sharks triumphed 26-31 in the only meeting between the two squads this season.

Soccer Loop Results Are Announced

The Daly City Seven-A-Side Boys Soccer League, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department and the Westlake International Soccer Club, announced the results of league play on October 30, at Ben Franklin playground.

Bantam League — Boys 6 and 7. Blackbirds 8 — Golden Eagles 3. A hard earned victory for the Golden Eagles who came from behind several times and finally outscored the Blackbirds.

Midget League — Boys 8 and 9. Tigers 5 — Bobcats 0. This is the Tigers second win in a row and an impressive one at that. Looks like the Lions and Bobcats will have to jell quickly to match the Tigers' finesse and speed.

Little Pros — Boys 11 through 13. Arsenal 6 — Santos 2. Santos will certainly be ready for the next confrontation and even the series on November 13.

The coaching staff of the Westlake International Soccer Club will welcome new players on the next league games day, November 13, 10 a.m. at Ben Franklin playground.

Bike Training Series Slated

Club Endsport, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Division, has invited all persons interested in bicycle competition to join in the winter training series.

The War Memorial Community Center will be the scene of the meeting of the club at 7:30 p.m. on November 11.

Meetings are regularly held on the second Thursday of each month there.

able in this era — and walked just 37 in 325 innings. That's only about one per nine innings.

WE SAID IN THIS SPACE a long time ago that a large percentage of baseball trades — perhaps 75-90 per cent — are not made necessarily to improve the respective clubs physically, but psychologically (a euphemism for clearing the roster of agitators, which is in turn a euphemism for getting rid of the trouble-makers, which in turn may be a euphemism for turning out what the club administration considers to be jerks). A couple of winter trades could no better illustrate what we mean.

The Red Sox traded off Billy Conigliaro, George Scott, Joe Lahoud, Jim Lonborg, Ken Brett and Don Pavletich to Milwaukee for Marty Pattin, Lew Krausse, Tommy Harper and somebody named Pat Skrabale.

If you've been reading the sports pages at all, you know that Conigliaro, Scott, Lahoud and Lonborg were apparently the leaders in what was at least a minor revolt against manager Eddie Kasko and/or Carl Yastrzemski. Rico Petrocelli is about the only anti-Kasko man, as a matter of fact, who missed the ax. And if you remember, he apologized to Kasko about all the nasty things he had said about him the day after Kasko was rehired.

We don't know for sure that Brett was a major disturber, but he couldn't have been happy pitching only 59 innings, when he knew at least one other club (Milwaukee) would try him as a starter. And Pavletich was the forgotten man on the Sox roster, playing in only 14 games for 27 times at bat. If he wasn't hollering for a trade, he should have.

Milwaukee gave Boston back a pretty good chunk of talent, but not as much as they got in return; and neither Krausse nor Harper have ever been known as easy players to handle. Krausse especially was disturbed over being a relief pitcher for much of the season. Given a chance to start in the latter stages of the campaign, he proved to be Milwaukee's best effective starter.

The trade of Alex Johnson and Jerry Moses from the Angels to Cleveland for Vida Pinson, Frank Baker and Alan Foster is obvious. We all know about Alex, Moses was bad-mouthing then-coach Lefty Phillips, and most of the rest of the organization (he called General Manager Dick Walsh "a detriment to baseball") all year for not playing him regularly, and no team, apparently, has ever made Pinson happy.

Skyline School Still Winning in Daly City

Skyline School continues to roll up the wins in the fifth and sixth grade league Western Conference. This week it was Colma School dropping a 38-18 decision to the Skyline team.

Halfback Paul Consentino

again led the scoring for Skyline School as he scored three touchdowns. Other Skyline TDs were scored by QB Mark Evans, on an 18-yard roll out, and by line-backer Ken McCabe, on a 32-yard pass interception. Excellent interior blocking by the line and a strong pass rush by the defense proved to be too much for the Colma team.

In other games Jefferson Elementary School defeated Robertson School by a final count of 20-12. Abraham Lincoln School downed FDR by the score of 38-19. Substitute quarterback Bernard Duffy behind the excellent blocking of Jeff Granville and Eli Hall and Randy Manan-grul led the Abraham Lincoln attack. Jeff Murphy scored four TDs for the Abraham Lincoln team.

Fifth and Sixth Grade Eastern Conference

Vista Mar School has extended its win streak to four straight and remains undefeated in the Eastern Conference after a close contest in which they defeated an excellent Marchbanks team by a final score of 32-6.

Vista Mar scored its first TD on a pass from Cooper to Har-band and its final TD on a scamper around end by Cooper.

M. P. Brown waited until the third quarter to score against Panorama but did it big in that quarter by scoring twice and going on to a 19-2 victory over a very determined Panorama squad. In the last game of the week, George Washington down Vista Grande 20-0.

Craig Grant scored on a 40-yard pass from Broussard. Tommy Jones ran the conversion over for an easy 8-0 lead. Then Wayne Herdendor scored on a 30-yard run and Craig Grant on a 25-yard run to wrap up Washington's scoring.

Seventh and Eighth Grade Atlantic Conference Highlights

Vista Mar remains undefeated in the Atlantic Conference due to an excellent defense that shut out Skyline School last week by a final score of 22-0. Laing was the big gun in the Vista Mar victory drive as he threw for one TD and ran two others over for scores.

Croenzi scored Vista Mar's first TD on a pass from Laing. In a very tough fought game, Abraham Lincoln pushed over a third quarter TD that was to hold up as the margin of victory over Robertson School. Peter Eleveplios scored the only TD for Lincoln in its 6-0 victory. Colma

Rec Program At Serra Vista

Starting this week, the South San Francisco Parks and Recreation Department's recreation program at Serra Vista School will move to Clay Avenue Park, at Clay Avenue and Dundee Drive.

The new park is closer to the majority of the boys' and girls' homes and will be a shorter distance to walk.

The area's supervised hours will be also increased to 3-5 p.m. Monday through Friday and on Saturdays from 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

The same types of recreational activities will be offered as in the past, and youngsters will participate in sports leagues as before.

that more fans would be encouraged to enter the park without having to mortgage their homes.

You're often the same guys who don't hesitate to hold out for more money — which raises the price of the tickets — and deprives loyal fans of YOUR presence.

BASEBALL LEFT-OVERS: We see where Pittsburgh outfielder-first baseman Al Oliver says he wants to be traded because he can't become a "superstar" playing only 143 games a season, as he did this past year.

Just on half hour's research, and a little quick mental arithmetic, showed that the following first basemen and outfielders averaged 143 or fewer games per season: Jim Bottomley (136), Dolph Camilli (142), Max Carey (143), Frank Chance (122), Ty Cobb (137), Kiki Culver (136), Joe DiMaggio (138), Goose Goslin (138), Harry Hillmann (140), Harry Hooper (141), Joe Judge (135), Chuck Klein (132), Ted Kluszewski (138), Heinie Manush (136), Stuffy McInnis (142), Johnny Mize (140), Mel Ott (143), Babe Ruth (142), Lloyd Waner (136), Hack Wilson (134), Al Simmons (143), George Sisler (140), Enos Slaughter (140), Tris Speaker (141).

Bear in mind that this list is in no way complete, that we counted only the peak years of the players named (not when they were just starting or fading out and played fewer than 100 games a season), and threw out the years when injuries kept them out for substantial lengths. Al, my man, if you can't become a superstar in 143 games, you just ain't never gonna make it.

OH, THAT GIANT defense! Did you know that the Giants had the top TWO error-making first basemen in the National League this past season? McCovey made 15 miscues, Mays 11. At least McCovey played 95 games at the bag. Mays was there only 48 times. Willie, the outfielder, incidentally, had the lowest fielding average of any first sacker in the majors.

And Tito Fuentes made more errors (23) than any second baseman in the majors.

VIDA BLUE had a fantastic year, but Ferguson Jenkins was fabulous on his own: completed 30 of 39 starts — almost impossible in this era — and walked just 37 in 325 innings. That's only about one per nine innings.

WE SAID IN THIS SPACE a long time ago that a large percentage of baseball trades — perhaps 75-90 per cent — are not made necessarily to improve the respective clubs physically, but psychologically (a euphemism for clearing the roster of agitators, which is in turn a euphemism for getting rid of the trouble-makers, which in turn may be a euphemism for turning out what the club administration considers to be jerks). Chiefs Still Undelected in Softball Play

They are getting better every week folks!

The 9ers, Raiders? No, the Daly City Adult Softball League games being played at Westlake Park and Colma field.

For example, last Sunday the Mets beat Geronimi A.C. in a wild game 7-4, the Chiefs for the third weekend in a row came from behind to squeeze by the Radicals in the last inning 8-7, and the Ponies in the day's wildest game had to rally as Mike Smyth, Terry Ricardo, and Bob Torre led a late surge to push the Ponies by a fired up Misfits club in the late innings.
